

3. Marking points

3.1 Marking of lists

This applies to questions requiring a set number of responses, but for which students have provided extra responses. The general principle to be followed in such a situation is that 'right + wrong = wrong'.

Each error / contradiction negates each correct response. So, if the number of errors / contradictions equals or exceeds the number of marks available for the question, no marks can be awarded.

However, responses considered to be neutral (indicated as * in example 1) are not penalised.

Example 1: What is the pH of an acidic solution?

[1 mark]

Student	Response	Marks awarded
1	green, 5	0
2	red*, 5	1
3	red*, 8	0

Example 2: Name two magnetic materials.

[2 marks]

Student	Response	Marks awarded
1	iron, steel, aluminium, copper	2

3.2 Marking of questions requiring a list

For questions requiring a specified number of responses (marked as a specified number of marks), students are required to provide a specified number of responses. For marks for the question, the number of correct answers is the number of the specified number given in the question.

3.3 Marking questions requiring calculation

When a question requires a calculation, the marks for the calculation are awarded correctly. An incorrect answer is awarded no marks for working. An incorrect answer to a calculation question may still earn marks for working. If a calculation question is given correctly, the relevant marks may be awarded.

Full marks are only awarded for a correct final answer from correct working.

3.4 Interpretation of 'or'

Answers using the word 'or' should be given credit only if it is clear that this is either a full correct answer.
