Society as an Interaction Space Hanna Lehtimäki, Petri Uusikylä, Anssi Smedlund, 2020-02-29 As digitalization and social media are increasingly blurring the boundaries between traditional societal political and economic institutions this book provides a cross disciplinary examination of value co creation From various standpoints it examines how institutions contribute to service ecosystems and how digitalization is transforming value co creation in these ecosystems Further the book shares new perspectives on relational dynamics among government companies and citizens These insights fill the gaps between service science and political science by integrating institutional logics into the concept of value co creation The book subsequently examines society as an interaction space Topics discussed include the new logic and transformation mechanisms of economic activities citizen participation governance and policy making in the face of technological innovations market based reforms and the risk of disconnect between citizens and policy making Here the focus is on value co creation in complex adaptive systems where institutions individuals and businesses negotiate value and interests in networked relations In closing the book presents a range of empirical case studies on value co creation which provide examples of active networked citizenship innovative governance and policy making democratic leadership and trust building dialogue among institutions The studies address the context of Nordic countries recognized as world leading democracies Pursuing a systems approach the book articulates a social reality composed of interacting and interconnected elements that cannot be captured with only micro or macro levels of analysis Service ecosystems are considered as configurations of people and technologies embedded in institutionalized rules cultural meanings and practices offering valuable insights into the service centered view of markets and society Given the breadth and depth of its coverage the book offers a valuable resource for all students and scholars interested in understanding and envisioning the future democratic landscape Journal of Retailing New York University.
