Evidence-Based Inquiries in Ethno-STEM Research Iman C Chahine, Josef de Beer, 2021-01-01 The purpose of the edited volume is to provide an international lens to examine evidence based investigations in Ethno STEM research Ethno science Ethno technology Ethno engineering and Ethno mathematics These themes grew out of multi national multi institutional and multi disciplinary efforts to preserve as well as epitomize the role that Indigenous Knowledge Systems IKS play in cognitive development and its vital contributions to successful and meaningful learning in conventional and non conventional contexts Principled by the Embodied Situated and Distributed Cognition ESDC this innovative book will provide evidence supporting the embeddedness of a thinking in acting model as a fundamental framework that explains and supports students acquisition of scientific knowledge So often western science curricula are experienced as irrelevant since it does not take cognizance of the daily experiences and world in which the learner finds himself This book takes a socio cultural look at IKS and applies research in neuroscience to make a case its incorporation in the STEM Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics classroom We use the Embodied Situated Distributed Cognition ESDC Model as conceptual framework in this book Although the value of IKS is often acknowledged in curriculum policy documents teachers are most often not trained in incorporating IK in the classroom Teachers lack of the necessary pedagogical content knowledge PCK in effectively incorporating IK in their classrooms is a tremendous problem internationally Another problem is that IK is often perceived as pseudo science and scholars advocating for the incorporation of IK in the school curriculum often do not contextualize their arguments within a convincing theoretical and conceptual framework Researching Possibilities in Mathematics, Science and Technology Education Mamokgethi Setati, 2009 Mathematics Science and Technology Education MSTE emerged as a research discipline in the 1960s and continues to reflect the distinctive flavour and character of its roots in Western societies and science In this mode often based on positivist frameworks research environments are characterised by idealised environments sanitised research conditions depoliticised neutralised data and contested analyses The book arises from needs in the mathematics and science education research community in Southern Africa for a methodology text that is responsive to rapidly changing educational environments and to the challenges and possibilities of research in contexts characterised by inequality diversity poverty violence the particular history within which research takes place and the consequent ethical and socio political considerations The book also acknowledges and works with the practical and political realities of education and schooling in much of Southern Africa where schools are often poorly resourced and communication with them is often difficult and where research methodologies and ethics have to take account of the complexities of school operations and school community relationships The book does not aim to position itself as a counterpoint to conventional research methodologies It aims to build on the established base of mainstream MSTE and seeks to elevate and widen the debates raise methodological issues and offer innovative possibilities and pedagogies To this end the chapters present theoretical meta level reflections on issues in research design in the fields of mathematics science and technology education In this shift of focus the book draws on a number of fairly recent research approaches These include ethno mathematics cultural studies in science education place based education community based education environmental education socially critical theory and education for social and economic development Mathematics Today, 1998 From Groups to Categorical Algebra Dominique Bourn, 2017-06-13 This book gives a thorough and entirely self contained in depth introduction to a specific approach to group theory in a large sense of that word The focus lie on the relationships which a group may have with other groups via universal properties a view on that group from the outside This method of categorical algebra is actually not limited to the study of groups alone but applies equally well to other similar categories of algebraic objects By introducing protomodular categories and Mal'tsev categories which form a larger class the structural properties of the category  $\mathbf{Grp}$  of groups show how they emerge from four very basic observations about the algebraic literal calculus and how studied for themselves at the conceptual categorical level they lead to the main striking features of the category  $\mathbf{Grp}$  of groups Hardly any previous knowledge of category theory is assumed and just a little experience with standard algebraic structures such as groups and monoids Examples and exercises help understanding the basic definitions and results throughout the text Identifying Potential for Equitable Access to Tertiary Level Science Marissa Rollnick, 2010-07-20 Higher education internationally is in a state of transition and transformation leading to an increase in the level of participation and a consequent increase in number of non traditional and underprepared students The appearance of these students provides a particular challenge in the sciences where adequate grounding is crucial One response to this challenge has been the provision of access foundation or second chance programmes which operate on different models internationally In South Africa where the push for equity is strong in the wake of the apartheid era programmes have generally been established at all tertiary institutions with some of the most successful of these programmes based at universities characterised by a high research output Consequently in the last decade there has been a great deal of research into the effectiveness of these programmes both at a micro and macro level Similar research in other countries exists but is patchy and often based on small groups of students This book provides valuable information on what research has to say about disadvantaged and under prepared science students and how they learn what works and what does not work It provides an examination of issues related to the programmes their structure student selection and adjustment Issues such the learning of these students their communicative ability and laboratory work come under the spotlight Although examining the issue internationally the book draws heavily on lessons from South Africa where there has been considerably experience of such programmes Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe Western Europe North Africa South Africa North America South America Middle East Far East South East Asia

Australia and New Zealand Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories a understanding the interrelationships among cognitive affective epistemological and religious factors that are related to peoples views about evolution b designing implementing evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding and c reducing antievolutionary attitudes This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross cultural meta analysis Written for a primarily academic audience this book provides a much needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe Rural Education Across the World Simone White,Jayne Downey,2021-03-22 This book brings together authors from United States South Africa United Kingdom China Canada and Australia to provide insights and case studies from across a range of contexts to explore the interplay between the notions of rurality innovation and education The book reveals a hopeful and resilient approach to innovative rural education and scholarship collectively and provides important evidence to speak against an often deficit view of rural education Three patterns are revealed namely the importance of place attentive strategies the importance of joined up alliances to maximise resources and networks and finally the need to utilize alternative methodologies and frameworks that have a starting point of difference rather than deficit for any rural initiative or approach By drawing from international examples and responding in innovative ways to rural education challenges this book provides an opportunity to share international insights into innovations interventions and partnerships that promote and support rural education in its broadest sense River Culture UNESCO,UNESCO Office in Beijing,2023-01-05 South Africa by the South African people themselves This book is written by a comrade who grew up in the township of Clermont a student of politics under the tutelage of Archie Gumede a man who rubbed shoulders with radicals such as Patrick Terror Lekota and Diliza Mji amongst others and a staunch Catholic whose wedding was conducted by Archbishop Denis Hurley Skhumbuzo Letlaka is a product of a township struggle stay aways consumer boycotts strikes school boycotts street committees and their tight discipline kangaroo courts and the application of the Mandela Plan
