Maths Lit Grade 10 10 November 2014:

Mathematical Literacy on Statistical Measures Christian Büscher, 2018-07-14 In most countries only very limited time resources are available for statistics education within mathematics education Thus statistics education research needs to develop teaching learning arrangements that are compact and applicable to classrooms Christian Büscher designs and investigates a compact teaching learning arrangement which aims at mathematical and reflective knowledge about statistics Central results include the specification of the learning content of statistical measures an empirical reconstruction of students learning processes towards statistical measures and the identification of students situated reflections about mathematics within their learning processes

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

The Education Invasion Joy Pullmann, 2017-03-14 Most Americans had no idea what Common Core was in 2013 according to polls But it had been creeping into schools nationwide over the previous three years and children were feeling its effects They cried over math homework so mystifying their parents could not help them even in elementary school They read motley assortments of informational text instead of classic literature They dreaded the high stakes tests in unfamiliar formats that were increasingly controlling their classrooms How did this latest and most sweeping reform of American education come in mostly under the radar Joy Pullmann started tugging on a thread of reports from worried parents and frustrated teachers and it led to a big tangle of history and politics intrigue and arrogance She unwound it to discover how a cabal of private foundation honchos and unelected public officials cooked up a set of rules for what American children must learn in core K 12 classes and how the Obama administration pressured states to adopt them Thus a federalized education scheme took root despite legal prohibitions against federal involvement in curriculum Common Core and its testing regime were touted as an absolute game changer in public education yet the evidence so far suggests that kids are actually learning less under it Why then was such a costly and disruptive agenda imposed on the nation's schools Who benefits And how can citizens regain local self governance in education so their children's minds will be fed a more nourishing intellectual diet and be protected from the experiments of emboldened bureaucrats The Education Invasion offers

answers and remedies

Frontiers in the Acquisition of Literacy Claire M. Fletcher-Flinn,2015-09-28

Learning to read and to spell are two of the most important cultural skills that must be acquired by children and for that matter anyone learning a second language We are not born with an innate ability to read A reading system of mental representations that enables us to read must be formed in the brain Learning to read in alphabetic orthographies is the acquisition of such a system which links mental representations of visual symbols letters in print words with pre existing phonological sound and semantic comprehension cognitive systems for language Although spelling draws on the same representational knowledge base and is usually correlated with reading the acquisition processes involved are not quite the same Spelling requires the sequential production of letters in words and at beginning levels there may not be a full degree of integration of phonology with its representation by the orthography Reading on the other hand requires only the recognition of a word for pronunciation Hence spelling is more difficult than reading and learning to spell may necessitate more complete representations or more conscious access to them The learning processes that children use to acquire such cognitive systems in the brain and whether these same processes are universal across different languages and orthographies are central theoretical questions Most children learn to read and spell their language at the same time thus the co ordination of these two facets of literacy acquisition needs explication as well as the effect of different teaching approaches on acquisition Lack of progress in either reading and or spelling is also a major issue of concern for parents and teachers necessitating a cross disciplinary approach to the problem encompassing major efforts from researchers in neuroscience cognitive science experimental psychology and education The purpose of this Research Topic is to summarize and review what has been accomplished so far and to further explore these general issues Contributions from different perspectives are welcomed and could include theoretical computational and empirical works that focus on the acquisition of literacy including cross orthographic research
