Educating Outside Helen Porter, 2018-03-22 Although the benefits of learning outside are well documented and more and more teachers are heading out post pandemic to teach their classes, outdoor activities often decline as children progress through their education. There are many reasons for this lack of time in the curriculum: lack of training, lack of teacher confidence or simply lack of inspiration. Educating Outside contains a bank of outdoor learning ideas that can be used to enhance and enrich your classes' learning experiences across the curriculum, including in science, history, geography, art and design, English and maths. Each lesson idea is linked to a specific programme of study and outlines required resources, links to soft skills, cross-curricular opportunities and a broad lesson plan with suggested outcomes and photos. All the ideas take place within the school grounds themselves, which means plenty of opportunities to try out new activities without lengthy risk assessments, extra time and additional expense.

Planning in the Moment with Two and Three Year Olds Anna Ephgrave, 2020-06-08 Children are most engaged and therefore learn best when they are following their own interests. In this book, Anna Ephgrave shows how her acclaimed 'planning in the moment' approach can be used with two and three year olds with dramatic results for both children and staff. It reveals the impact that free-flowing child-initiated play has on very young children's wellbeing, making them feel safe, secure and consequently helping them to be fully engaged in their learning. The first part of the book clearly explains the principles of child-initiated play and demonstrates how practitioners can create the best possible environment for very young children, also looking at the resources and practices that need to be in place for them to flourish. There is detailed guidance on the role of the practitioner, including how adults should observe children's play before deciding how or if to interact in that moment to ensure that each interaction moves learning forward and supports the child's unique development. The second part of the book tracks some of the events from each month in the toddler room of an outstanding preschool, following a cohort of children through a year to show how the setting moved from topic-based adult-led activities to a fully child-led way of working. Key features include: Over 350 full-colour photos to illustrate practice. Specific guidance on using the 'in the moment' approach with all children, including those with additional needs. Advice on working with parents, individual children and groups. Examples of individual learning journeys. Photocopiable templates of focus child sheets. Covering all aspects of practice from the organization of the room and outdoor environment to the routines and boundaries that ensure children are safe and happy this book is essential reading for anyone who works with two and three year olds      Resources in Education ,1998      The Sustainability and
