Life Orientation November Exam 2013 Grade 11:

Neuroscience, Learning and Educational Psychology María Jesús Luque Rojas, Eduardo Blanco Calvo, María Teresa Martín-Aragoneses, 2022-08-25 Education in Vietnam Martin Hayden, Thi Le Tran, 2024-08-02 Offering insights into the current and projected future state of the education system in Vietnam this edited volume is an authoritative sourcebook for scholars policy analysts academic staff and students Vietnam is well on its way to joining the dress circle of high achieving education nations in Asia International surveys of the academic aptitude and ability of the nation s youth consistently place it well above relevant regional and global averages This accomplishment is remarkable for a country with a gross domestic product per capita of only US 2 785 in 2020 The dynamics of Vietnam s national education system are comprehensively documented in the book Each of the country s education sectors is critically appraised as well as the culture of education in Vietnam Specific issues concerning funding and equity quality and accreditation the teaching of curriculum areas the internationalisation of the system and the provision of educational opportunities for young people with disabilities are carefully analysed against a background of relevant global trends With contributions from well established and highly respected local experts with high aspirations for the future development of the national education system in Vietnam this book will be a must read for academics and students of Southeast Asian studies and comparative education Physical Management for Neurological Conditions E-Book Sheila Lennon, Gita Ramdharry, Geert Verheyden, 2018-07-28 The second edition of the Neurological Physiotherapy Pocketbook is the only book for physiotherapists that provides essential evidence based information in a unique and easy to use format applicable to clinical settings Written by new international editors and contributors this pocketbook provides quick and easy access to essential clinical information Comprehensive and handy reference on physical management and movement limitations suitable to any health care context and environment Use of eclectic approach which focuses on selecting the appropriate evidence based tools to assess and treat neurological conditions without subscribing to any specific treatment approaches International case studies are presented to provide worldwide scientific evidence Fully revised by international contributors with the inclusion of 8 new chapters covering Common impairments Inherited neurological disorders Complex case management Virtual reality and interactive gaming technologies Marine Ecosystem Restoration (MER) - Challenges and New Horizons Brian Silliman, Avigdor Abelson, Christine Angelini, Gesche Krause, Megan Irene Saunders, Tjisse Van Der Heide, 2023-10-23 Worldwide marine ecosystems have been lost and degraded due to anthropogenic disturbances For example oyster reefs have declined by at least 85% coral reefs by 19% seagrasses by 29% North American salt marshes by 42% and mangroves by 35% from the early 19th century Deepwater reefs and deep sea vents are not immune and have also been reduced in extent in many areas Factors driving these losses include habitat destruction pollution invasive species overfishing trawling mining and more recently climate change effects such as ocean warming species range changes and acidification These habitat declines are occurring at a time when marine waters are being used at or near their maximum productive capacity to meet the contemporary needs of an ever increasing human population. Because coastal and marine ecosystems generate some of the richest biodiversity hotspots on Earth and provide critical ecosystem services including storm protection, fisheries production and carbon storage, over 1 billion US dollars have been spent globally in an attempt to halt and reverse observed declines. Early conservation efforts aimed at protecting these valuable and threatened habitats focused on reducing human impacts and physical stressors. However, with habitat degradation continuing and sometimes increasing in rate, it is now clear conservation alone will not be sufficient to protect and reestablish coastal ecosystems. Habitat restoration, although in existence for many decades, has recently been elevated as a new primary strategy to stem and even reverse coastal habitat loss. The call for increasing investment in restoration efforts has emerged with significant advances in propagule rearing and dispersion of habitat forming organisms, e.g. oysters, seagrasses, corals. In addition, restoration resources are increasingly allocated by governments and/or large corporations with the aim to, for example, fix past landscape engineering efforts that had unintended environmental consequences. Such investments are being made to: i) provide jobs for those unemployed during economic downturns; ii) restore ecosystems destroyed by natural disasters and stressors; iii) increase coastal defense in response to increased frequency of intense storms; and/or iv) compensate for pollution and development driven habitat degradation. Conservation practitioners have traditionally been skeptical to invest heavily in restoration at large scales because of the high cost per area (10 000 5 000 000 US ha for coastal vs 500 5 000 US ha for terrestrial systems) to replant coastal ecosystems and/or the high chance that the restored ecosystems will not live long, e.g. outplanted corals. For restoration to be effective and employed as a primary method of coastal conservation at relevant scales, we must improve its efficiency, lower costs, and rapidly share and incorporate advances. One crucial step will be to identify when and where restoration attempts have been carried out according to state of art ecological theory and gauge their success. Another is generating synthesis studies that focus both within and across ecosystems to identify efficiencies, adaptations and innovations. Work that shows theoretical and methodological innovations in specific ecosystems as well as across systems will be critical to pushing all fields of MER forward. Although there is rapidly increasing interest and investment, the field of marine ecosystem restoration is just beginning to undergo synthesis. Therefore, the aim of this Research Topic is to bring together research contributions to help address this synthesis need, provide a spotlight for recent innovations, enhance our understanding of successful methods in marine ecosystem restoration, and promote integration of ecological, sociological and engineering theory into restoration practices.

Prejudice, Identity and Well-Being Charles T. Hill, 2022-03-17 This essential and timely text looks at the ways in which various identities are socially constructed by students exploring and comparing multiple dimensions of diverse identities and the various ways students try to fit in when faced with prejudice and discrimination. Based on more than 20 years of data collected from Multiple Identities Questionnaires plus Self Identity papers in the author's Diverse Identities course this book gives voice to the diverse and intersectional identities experienced by students at a formative time in their lives Analyzing data from more than three thousand college students the book gives a uniquely comprehensive overview of identity formation stigma prejudice and discrimination which are part of conflict around the world Author Charles T Hill asks to what extent the students have experienced prejudice or discrimination regarding each of their identities their own prejudice and discrimination toward others of each identity and the importance of each type of identity for their self concept Split into three sections the first part of the book gives an overview of terminologies and theoretical concepts the second part explores the multiple dimensions of each identity using data from the MIQ interspersed with quotes from Self Identity papers and the third part compares and combines the different types of identities Introduced with a foreword by Professor Emeritus of Africana Studies James M Jones the book opens a space to help students and others explore their identities realize that they are not alone in their struggles with prejudice and accept themselves with pride in their identities Featuring highlighted key concepts and self reflection sections as well as further reading measures and statistical results this book is essential not only for undergraduate and graduate students in social psychology health psychology sociology ethnic studies and social work but also for therapists parents teachers and practitioners running Diversity Training Programs for non students
