

I. Mendel's Experiments and Genetic Vocabulary

A. History of Genetics:

1. Gregor Mendel was a Franciscan monk who was the first person to determine the rules of inheritance
  - i. He is often described as a monk, but he was university trained and spent a majority of time studying science
2. In the mid 1800s, most people believed in blending
  - i. Traits from mother and father mixed
  - ii. Offspring came out in the middle
3. Mendel used garden peas as a model organism to study inheritance
4. Garden peas served as a good model organism to study because:
  - i. Grow easily
  - ii. Short life spans (one year)
  - iii. Numerous characteristics (purple/white, tall/short)
  - iv. Make many offspring
  - v. He could control the crosses
5. In total he counted over 20,000 PLANTS!
6. His studies of these peas revolutionized the field of genetics (eventually)
  - i. Mendel's work went unnoticed during his lifetime because no one could understand the math he used to support his findings.
7. Mendel followed the inheritance of 7 characteristics of pea plants, and he began by studying one trait at a time
  - i. This is referred to as a monohybrid cross (mono for one trait)
8. His studies led to the creation of a new set of vocabulary terms to describe the results he saw, these terms form the basis of genetic vocabulary today.

B. Genetic Vocabulary:

1. The physical appearance of an organism is called its phenotype. Example: a pea plant that is tall, has purple flowers, and green seeds.
2. The genetic information that codes for the phenotype is called the genotype. Example: a pea plant that is tall, has purple flowers, and green seeds.
3. A trait is a characteristic that can be passed from parent to offspring. Example: a pea plant that is tall, has purple flowers, and green seeds.
4. A monohybrid cross is a cross between two organisms that differ in only one trait. Example: a pea plant that is tall (TT) crossed with a pea plant that is short (tt).
5. A dihybrid cross is a cross between two organisms that differ in two traits. Example: a pea plant that is tall and has purple flowers (TTPP) crossed with a pea plant that is short and has white flowers (ttpp).
6. A Punnett square is a tool used to predict the possible genotypes and phenotypes of offspring from a cross. Example: a Punnett square for a monohybrid cross between two heterozygous pea plants (Tt x Tt).
