Indigenous Peoples' Governance of Land and Protected Territories in the Arctic Thora Martina Herrmann, Thibault Martin, 2015-12-22 This book addresses critical questions and analyses key issues regarding Indigenous Aboriginal Peoples and governance of land and protected areas in the Arctic. It brings together contributions from scientists indigenous and non indigenous researchers local leaders and members of the policy community that document Indigenous Aboriginal approaches to governance of land and protected areas at the local regional and international level explore new territorial governance models that are emerging as part of the Indigenous Aboriginal governance within Arctic States provinces territories and regions analyse the recognition or lack thereof concerning indigenous rights to self determination in the Arctic and examine how traditional decision making arrangements and practices can be linked with governments in the process of good governance. The book highlights essential lessons learned success stories and remaining issues all of which are useful to address issues of Arctic governance of land and protected areas today and which could also be relevant for future governance arrangements.

This Changes Everything Naomi Klein, 2014-09-16 The most important book yet from the author of the international bestseller The Shock Doctrine a brilliant explanation of why the climate crisis challenges us to abandon the core free market ideology of our time restructure the global economy and remake our political systems. In short either we embrace radical change ourselves or radical changes will be visited upon our physical world. The status quo is no longer an option. In This Changes Everything Naomi Klein argues that climate change isn't just another issue to be neatly filed between taxes and health care. It's an alarm that calls us to fix an economic system that is already failing us in many ways. Klein meticulously builds the case for how massively reducing our greenhouse emissions is our best chance to simultaneously reduce gaping inequalities re imagine our broken democracies and rebuild our gutted local economies. She exposes the ideological desperation of the climate change deniers the messianic delusions of the would be geoengineers and the tragic defeatism of too many mainstream green initiatives. And she demonstrates precisely why the market has not and cannot fix the climate crisis but will instead make things worse with ever more extreme and ecologically damaging extraction methods accompanied by rampant disaster capitalism. Klein argues that the changes to our relationship with nature and one another that are required to respond to the climate crisis humanely should not be viewed as grim penance but rather as a kind of gift a catalyst to transform broken economic and cultural priorities and to heal long festering historical wounds. And she documents the inspiring movements that have already begun this process communities that are not just refusing to be sites of further fossil fuel extraction but are building the next regeneration based economies right now. Can we pull off these changes in time? Nothing is certain. Nothing except that climate change changes everything. And for a very brief time the nature of that change is still up to us.

The Secure and the Dispossessed Nick Buxton, Ben Hayes, 2015-11-20 While the world's scientists and many of its inhabitants despair at the impact of climate change corporate and military leaders see nothing but opportunities For them melting ice caps mean newly accessible fossil fuels borders to be secured from climate refugees social conflicts to be managed and more failed states in which to intervene They are securing their assets at the expense of the planet and its inhabitants The Secure and the Dispossessed looks at these deadly approaches with a critical eye It also considers the flip side that the legitimacy of the elite is under unprecedented pressure from resistance by communities to resource grabs to those creating new ecological and socially just models for managing our energy food and water Topics covered include geoengineering militarism refugee protection greenwashing and the agricultural crisis among others Adaptation and resilience to a climate changed world is desperately needed but the form it will take will affect all of our futures

Biofuels for Aviation Christopher Chuck, 2016-06-02 Biofuels for Aviation Feedstocks Technology and Implementation presents the issues surrounding the research and use of biofuels for aviation such as policy markets certification and performance requirements life cycle assessment and the economic and technical barriers to their full implementation Readers involved in bioenergy and aviation sectors research planning or policy making activities will benefit from this thorough overview The aviation industry's commitment to reducing GHG emissions along with increasing oil prices have sparked the need for renewable and affordable energy sources tailored to this sector's very specific needs As jet engines cannot be readily electrified turning to biofuels is the most viable option However aviation is a type of transportation for which traditional biofuels such as bioethanol and biodiesel do not fulfill key fuel requirements Therefore different solutions to this situation are being researched and tested around the globe which makes navigating this scenario particularly challenging This book guides readers through this intricate subject bringing them up to speed with its current status and future prospects both from the academic and the industry point of view Science and technology chapters delve into the technical aspects of the currently tested and the most promising technology in development as well as their respective feedstocks and the use of additives as a way of adapting them to meet certain specifications Conversion processes such as hydrotreatment synthetic biology pyrolysis hydrothermal liquefaction and Fisher Tropsch are explored and their results are assessed for current and future viability Presents the current status of biofuels for the aviation sector including technologies that are currently in use and the most promising future technologies their production processes and viability Explains the requirements for certification and performance of aviation fuels and how that can be achieved by biofuels Explores the economic and policy issues as well as life cycle assessment a comparative techno economic analysis of promising technologies and a roadmap to the future Explores conversion processes such as hydrotreatment synthetic biology pyrolysis hydrothermal liquefaction and Fisher Tropsch
