Lephalale Course For 2016

Sylvy Jaglin, Alain Dubresson

Lephalale Course For 2016:

Space and planning in secondary cities Lochner Marais, Verna Nel, 2019-09-01 Much of the urban research focuses on the large metropolitan areas in South Africa. This book assesses spatial planning in the second tier cities of the country. Secondary cities are vital as they perform essential regional and in some cases global economic roles and help to distribute the population of a country more evenly across its surface. Apartheid planning left South African cities fragmented, segregated and with low densities. Post-apartheid policies aim to reverse these realities by emphasising integration, higher densities and upgrading. Achieving these aims has been challenging and often the historical patterns continue. The evidence shows that two opposing patterns prevail, namely increased densities and continued urban sprawl. This book presents ten case studies of spatial planning and spatial transformation in secondary cities of South Africa. The book frames these case studies against complexity theory and suggests that the post-apartheid response to apartheid planning represents a linear deviation from history. The ten case studies then reveal how difficult it is for local decision makers to find appropriate responses and how current responses often result in contradictory results. Often these cities are highly vulnerable and they find it difficult to plan in the context of uncertainty. The book also highlights how these cities find it difficult to stand on their own against the influence of interest groups, property developers, mining companies, traditional authorities, other spheres of government. The main reasons include weak municipal finance statements, the dependence on national and provincial government for capital expenditure, limited investment in infrastructure maintenance, the lack of planning capacity, the inability to implement plans and the unintended and sometimes contrary outcomes of post-apartheid planning policies. What About Us? Perspectives on Redressing Religious Inequalities Mariz Tadros, Olumide Adebimpe Aderounmu, Asif Aqeel, Manal Ahmed (Elehemier), Miriam Feldmann Kaye, Mary Gill, Mark Kaahwa, Philip Mader, Matome Jacky Makgoba, Moses Muhumuza, Rebecca Supriya Shah, Timothy Samuel Shah, Katharine Thane, Rifqah Tifloen, Tom Vanwing, 2022-10-26 How can we make religious equality a reality for those on the margins of society and politics? This book is about the individual and collective struggles of the religiously marginalised to be recognised and their inequalities religious or otherwise redressed. It is also about the efforts of civil society, governments, multilateral actors and scholars to promote freedom of religion or belief whatever shape they take. The actors and contexts that feature in this book are as diverse as health workers in Israel, local education authorities in Nigeria, indigenous movements in India, Uganda or South Africa, and multilateral actors such as the Islamic Development Bank in Sudan and the World Bank in Pakistan. Some of the case studies engage with development discourses and narratives or are undertaken by development actors, while other cases operate completely outside the international development paradigm. These case studies present some important insights which, while highly relevant for their contexts, also draw out important insights for academics, practitioners, activists and others who have an interest in redressing religious inequalities for socioeconomically marginalised populations. Handbook of Resilience in Children Sam

Brooks, 2023-03-09 The third edition of this handbook addresses not only the concept of resilience in children who overcome adversity but it also explores the development of children not considered at risk addressing recent challenges as a consequence of the COVID 19 pandemic The new edition reviews the scientific literature that supports findings that stress hardiness and resilience in all children leads to happier and healthier lives as well as improved functionality across the lifespan In this edition expert contributors examine resilience in relation to environmental stressors as phenomena in child and adolescent disorders and as a means toward positive adaptation into adulthood The significantly expanded third edition includes new and significantly revised chapters that explore strategies for developing resilience in families clinical practice and educational settings as well as its nurturance in caregivers and teachers Key areas of coverage include Exploration of the four waves of resilience research Resilience in gene environment transactions Resilience in boys and girls Resilience in family processes Asset building as an essential component of intervention Assessment of social and emotional competencies related to resilience Building resilience through school bullying prevention Resilience in positive youth development Enhancing resilience through effective thinking The Handbook of Resilience in Children Third Edition is an essential reference for researchers clinicians and allied practitioners and graduate students across such interrelated disciplines as child and school psychology social work public health as well as developmental psychology special and general education child and adolescent psychiatry family studies and pediatrics

Eskom Sylvy Jaglin, Alain Dubresson, 2016-08-16 Africa's leading producer of electricity Eskom Holdings SOC Ltd is also a vertically integrated monopoly owned by the South African state This national champion was shaken in 2008 when it was obliged to introduce load shedding or rolling blackouts and again in late 2014 Trying to understand how and why one of the iconic pillars of South African state capitalism is now in distress the authors of this book argue that the so called electricity crisis is in fact a public monopoly crisis Moving beyond technical aspects they explore the relationship between state power and Eskom before during and after apartheid From this perspective they suggest that the current technical and financial troubles of this public utility are illustrative of the weakening of its technopolitical regime of how national institutions have governed Eskom's technological development and of the pursuit of political goals in the production of electrical power Without a clear industrial strategy during the 2000s Eskom became a powerful tool of Broad Black Economic Empowerment as well as a neopatrimonial system which generates profits captured by the ruling party As a result crisis in Eskom shakes the whole political edifice Inefficient and its finances increasingly under scrutiny this state owned enterprise's existence as a monopolistic public utility is regularly a subject of debate The authors discuss the ambivalent role of Eskom in the national energy transition policy and whether solutions point in the direction of de-integrating this public monopoly and allowing its current technopolitical regime to enter a planned or natural decline with the boundaries saturated by normativity power relations and inequalities It explores the possibilities for making do with the everyday practices forming a way of living in cramped spaces In this respect early career researchers and activists share their fieldwork experiences through an intersectional lens based on emerging research methodologies and scholar activist practices From their own vantage point they look at their own contexts practices and research subjects at the level of everyday life Spatial practices and place based imaginaries from France Finland and Spain to Turkey and South Africa present a wide range of non counter hegemonic yet enabling practices for transformation in everyday life The contributors trained in a variety of convergent disciplines concerned with everyday life and space geography geopolitics architecture urban planning sociology political sciences discuss scholar activist methodologies during the current crisis in contemporary academia reflect on their research methodologies and research experiences and inquire into the ways of embodied negotiations for agency survival and care A group of early career researchers and activists came together to seek out the possibilities of transformative change in everyday life during the peak periods of COVID 19 When researchers and activists were forced to stay at home in isolation the authors met up online to discuss their subjectivities self reflexively to challenge the distance between the researcher and the field The book is the outcome of their collective production based on numerous meetings writing workshops and creative debates
