Parliament. House of Commons. Communities and Local Government Committee, 2016 The Government has announced a devolution revolution transferring powers and opportunities to local government through a series of devolution deals The Cities and Local Government Devolution Bill gives statutory authority to deals and enables some of the specific reforms the Government wishes to make such as introducing directly elected mayors for combined authorities This inquiry set out to examine the contents of the Bill and in particular whether Greater Manchester's deal is a model for other areas but its scope quickly widened to a review of the way in which devolution in England is proceeding The Committee has identified various aspects of the current approach that it recommends are refined and improved The Committee has found a significant lack of public consultation and engagement at all stages in the devolution process The public should be engaged in the preparation of devolution proposals insofar as possible during the negotiations and once the results of a deal have begun to make an impact and communicated to throughout the process This is particularly the case for health devolution where the systems in place are complex changes are consequently more difficult to understand and the public's response is likely to be more emotional The Committee also believes that the Government's approach to devolution in practice has lacked rigour as to process there are no clear measurable objectives for devolution It suggests various ways in which proper process can be ensured

Plundered Bernadette Atuahene, 2025-01-28 Clear Accessible Compelling Ibram X Kendi MacArthur Genius fellow and author of Stamped from the Beginning and How to Be an Antiracist In the spirit of Evicted a property law scholar uses the stories of two grandfathers one white one Black who arrived in Detroit at the turn of the twentieth century to reveal how racist policies weaken Black families widen the racial wealth gap and derive profit from pain When Professor Bernadette Atuahene moved to Detroit she planned to study the city's squatting phenomenon What she accidentally found was too urgent to ignore Her neighbors many of whom had owned their homes for decades were losing them to property tax foreclosure leaving once bustling Black neighborhoods blighted with vacant homes Through years of dogged investigation and research Atuahene uncovered a system of predatory governance where public officials raise public dollars through laws and processes that produce or sustain racial inequity a nationwide practice in no way limited to Detroit In this powerful work of scholarship and storytelling Atuahene shows how predatory governance invites complicity from well meaning people eviscerates communities and widens the racial wealth gap Using a multigenerational narrative Atuahene tells a riveting tale about racist policies how they take root why they flourish and who profits
