Copp,2007-01-01 This Report synthesizes the main results obtained throughout the ADVISOR research project Integrated Evaluation for Sustainable River Basin Governance funded by the European Commission under the Energy Environment and Sustainable Development theme of the 5th Framework Research Programme The aim of ADVISOR was to improve the understanding of evaluation processes as part of river basin planning and management and to provide a framework supported by a toolkit for the conduct of integrated and participatory evaluations The project comprised four work packages Work Package 1 examined past water project or plan evaluation cases in five EU states and drew insights on the problems of past evaluation practices Work Package 2 interpreted these past experiences from different analytical angles leading to a theory for an integrated evaluation process emphasising issues of deliberation multiple values quality in the use of information and governance Work Package 3 moved from theory to practice Different tools which could contribute to integrated evaluation processes were tested in experimental case

Wingfield,2015-10-20 Although scientists have discovered many fundamental physiological and behavioral mechanisms that comprise the stress response most of current knowledge is based on laboratory experiments using domesticated or captive animals Scientists are only beginning however to understand how stress impacts wild animals by studying the nature of the stressful stimuli that animals in their natural environments have adapted to for survival and what the mechanisms that allow that survival might be This book summarizes for the first time several decades of work on understanding stress in natural contexts The aim is two fold The first goal of this work is to place modern stress research into an evolutionary context The stress response clearly did not evolve to cause disease so that studying how animals use the stress response to survive in the wild should provide insight into why mechanisms evolved the way that they did The second goal is to provide predictions on how wild animals might cope with the Anthropocene the current period of Earth s history characterized by the massive human remodeling of habitats on a global scale Conservation of species will rely upon how wild animals use their stress response to successfully cope with human created stressors Prentice Hall Science Explorer: Teacher's ed ,2005
