

LIGHT-GAUGE STEEL STUDS

light-gauge steel studs are normally formed by cold-forming sheet or strip steel. The cold-formed steel studs can be made hot-dip galvanized with a zinc coating to avoid rust. They are also available with a polymer coating to provide corrosion resistance. Cold-formed steel studs are designed to meet specific load requirements, such as seismic loads, and are tested and certified accordingly. Light-gauge steel studs are used in a variety of applications, including wall framing, floor joists, roof purlins, and other structural members.
