Purchasers get access to a Web page where they can download and print the reproducible materials in a convenient 8 1/2 x 11 size. Culturally

Specific Pedagogy in the Mathematics Classroom Jacqueline Leonard, 2017-10-03. Culturally Specific Pedagogy in the Mathematics Classroom offers a wide variety of conceptual and curricular resources for teachers interested in teaching mathematics in a way that challenges stratification based upon race, class, gender, and other forms of oppression that students face in today's world. With the publication of this book, all teachers will have available to them instructional strategies in mathematics for meeting the academic needs of culturally diverse students. They will have an explanation of the linkage between culture and students' mathematical cognition and problem solving. The ease in which Leonard brings the reader along and the caring way she tells a story about making mathematics a fun and social justice experience makes for an exciting learning opportunity for all students and teachers. Carl A. Grant, University of Wisconsin-Madison, United States. From the Foreword: Mathematics educators are in a period of deep concern about our ability to educate all students in mathematics. Most students of color do not have the opportunities to fully learn mathematics. Nothing more important can be done for these students and their teachers than to publish this book, addressing the miseducation of these students and offering a way to change what we are doing. Carol E. Malloy, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, United States. This compelling text advocates the use of culturally specific pedagogy to enhance the mathematics instruction of diverse students. It accomplishes this by making clear the link between research and practice and offering lesson templates that teachers can use with ethnically and culturally diverse students and with females. Specifically, the text draws on sociocultural theory and research on culture and mathematics cognition to focus on three goals: using qualitative research to extend the literature on culturally based education to African American and Latina/o. c. detailed insights into how space and its applications are and can be used to support the development of the full range and diversity of African societies as encapsulated in the African Union's Agenda 2063. Like previous books in the Southern Space Studies series, it focuses on the role of space in supporting the UN Sustainable Development Goals in Africa, but it covers an even more extensive array of relevant and timely topics addressing all facets of African development. It demonstrates that while great achievements have been made in recent years in terms of economic and social development, which has lifted many of Africa's people out of poverty, there is still much that needs to be done to fulfill the basic needs of Africa's citizens and afford them the dignity they deserve. To this end, space is already being employed in diverse fields of human endeavor to serve Africa's goals for its future, but there is much room for further incorporation of space systems and data. Providing a comprehensive overview of the role space is playing in achieving Africa's developmental aspirations, the book is of great interest to both students and professionals in fields such as space studies, international relations, governance, social and rural development, and many others.

Unit 1 Assessment Wright Group/McGraw-Hill Staff, 2001-06. Assessment is comprised of Lesson Assessment and Benchmark Assessment. Lesson Assessment tests students on material covered in the program weekly. A score of 80% or higher indicates student mastery. These assessments offer the opportunity for summative assessment as students are graded on their knowledge of previously taught skills and concepts. Benchmark Assessment features tests of equivalent difficulty that sample the yearlong curriculum to gauge student growth. Improving scores on these assessments indicate students increasing mastery of the content. This assessment acts as a universal screener of student growth. Progress is measured against benchmark cutoff scores. Cutoff scores rise as student knowledge grows and help to point out gaps between student achievement and the curriculum-based goals. These two assessments offer valuable formative data as the frequency of the assessments allows for reliable progress monitoring data that can be used to ensure that all students progress.
