Web Archives and Web Archiving Asger Harlung, 2025-04-08 Web archives are repositories of content preserved from the World Wide Web not to be confused with other types of archives that offer services or content online Web archives preserve content that otherwise tends to disappear or change rapidly which probably makes them the most important initiative towards preservation of cultural heritage in our age Never before have the actions ongoing sentiments trends decision processes in politics business and industry institutions news media entertainment providers interest groups and individuals been documented or preserved at the level of detail offered by ongoing and systematic preservation of the Web with content from all levels of society This book strives to present the underlying methods and reasons for preserving web content with a focus on the principles rather than specific methods that may become obsolete almost as quickly as web pages may disappear and on detailing the nature of the archived results with its potentials and pitfalls Genre Analysis and Corpus Design

Ulrike Henny-Krahmer, 2024-01-22 This work in the field of digital literary stylistics and computational literary studies is concerned with theoretical concerns of literary genre with the design of a corpus of nineteenth century Spanish American novels and with its empirical analysis in terms of subgenres of the novel The digital text corpus consists of 256 Argentine Cuban and Mexican novels from the period between 1830 and 1910 It has been created with the goal to analyze thematic subgenres and literary currents that were represented in numerous novels in the nineteenth century by means of computational text categorization methods To categorize the texts statistical classification and a family resemblance analysis relying on network analysis are used with the aim to examine how the subgenres which are understood as communicative conventional phenomena can be captured on the stylistic textual level of the novels that participate in them Managing Archives and Archival Institutions

James Gregory Bradsher, 1991-08-13 Drawing on the expertise of nineteen highly regarded American archivists Managing Archives and Archival Institutions establishes general principles that will be of practical value to archivists at all stages of professional development in all types of archival institutions Contributions reflect the broad scope of archival work today and the wide range of skills and expertise archivists must acquire to meet the challenges presented by modern records and archives Databases & On-line Data in Astronomy M.A Albrecht, D Egret, 2012-12-06

Data archiving has for many years been the most disregarded aspect of all data systems The increase in numbers of telescopes both groundbased and space borne and the increase in efficiency of detectors have generated overwhelming amounts of data Much of these data were and are not used on short timescales and should have been archived where they can be used later and or by others Archiving is essential Objects can change in the course of time New technological or scientific developments might require observing objects again The cost benefit ratio will become more and more important when considering the allocation of telescope time The retrieval of old data can then be crucial At present there are a number of data collections and data retrieval systems This book includes a series of clear and up to date descriptions of many
