Overall	I told, drew, and wrote a whole story.	I wrote about when I did something.	I wrote about one time when I did something.	I told the story bit by bit.
Lead	I had a page that showed what happened first.	I tried to make a beginning for my story.	I thought about how to write a good beginning and chose a way to start my story. I chose the action, talk, or setting that would make a good beginning.	I wrote a beginning in which I helped readers know who the characters were and what the setting was in my story.
Transitions	I put my pages in order.	I put her pages in order. I used words such as and, then, and so.	I told the story in order by using words such as when, then, and after.	I told my story in order by using phrases such as a little later and after that.
Ending	I had a page that showed what happened last in my story.	I found a way to end my story.	I chose the action, talk, or feeling that would make a good ending.	I chose the action, talk, or feeling that would make a good ending and worked to write it well.
Organization	My story had a page for the beginning, a page for the middle, and a page for the end.	I wrote my story across three or more pages.	I wrote a lot of lines on a page and wrote across a lot of pages.	I used paragraphs and skipped lines to separate what happened first from what happened later (and finally) in her story.
Elaboration*	My story indicated who was there, what they did, and how the characters felt.	I put the picture from my mind onto the page. I had details in pictures and words.	I tried to bring my characters to life with details, talk, and actions.	I worked to show what was happening to (and in) my characters.	40

Barbara Ruth Peltzman, 2015-10-02 The diversity of student populations in the United States presents educators with many challenges To provide effective reading instruction for the individual student teachers must understand the enormous variety of reading methods and materials that exist and make independent decisions based on their students particular needs Research indicates that educators are often influenced by reading instruction fads that quickly fade making it more challenging to develop a repertoire of teaching strategies in which a teacher may have confidence This book examines a variety of reading methods used in American schools from the 19th to the 21st century and the literature promoting or critiquing them to help teachers become informed decision makers and better meet the needs of students
