Professors explore ghostly history

By FAITH HUGGINS
fhugg@luc.edu

Ghosts are naturally elusive in their ways for us and transcendence configurations. Some fear their vengeful intentions, others call on them for advice while few can escape their cartoonish appearance in pop culture depictions leaving them tame.

Loyola professors discussed the ideologies and traditions that have shaped contemporary beliefs of the spiritual and earthly realms throughout world history.

Faith James Huggins, an associate professor of philosophy, presented to ancient Greek philosophers about the disembodied soul as a foundation for ghost concepts throughout history.

"There are things to us that are attributed by metaphysical things, ideas, culture, music, art, knowledge, that kind of stuff," Huggins said. "If there's something to us that's touched by those things, well then that thing wherever it is in, not where it's located."

Associate Professor of History Terence Gross-Diaz said contemporary understandings of ghosts are shaped by ancient Greek Roman, Germanic and Celtic beliefs combined with medieval Christian theology.

Loyola hosts protest rights panel

By MADYSON SZCZYHORSKI
mszczyh@luc.edu

Loyola's Blackboard Analyzing IDEAS hosted the Know Your Rights Panel Student Activism event Oct. 24 in coordination with the university's Center for Diversity and Inclusion. The event sought to give students both the empowerment and knowledge to grow their activism while simultaneously protecting their individual rights as people.

The event was held in Damen Hall PB South and included four key speakers with different areas of expertise. The first was from outside the Loyola community, Daniel Williams, the director of the Civil Rights Clinic at Ford Defence Legal Aid. First Defense Legal Aid is a Chicago based organization providing legal services to communities that are over-policed.

From within the Blackboard community was WCLC Rodriguez, dean of students. Rodriquez is an instructor in the Department of Theology, and Daniel Williams, president of the Student Government of Loyola Chicago.

Blackboard Analyzing IDEAS is an organization within the Center for Diversity and Inclusion that serves to give students the resources to engage in activism and social justice. Their organization consists of student leaders, called Ideators, who help coordinate workshops and events to foster empowerment and development for activating and continuing activists.

Williams began the informational session of the event by giving a presentation on WCLC, highlighting their mission and providing information on the responsibilities of such boards of students. Williams also served as president. He emphasized the importance of student voices, not just within WCLC, but ensuring the broader student body population knows WCLC is a valuable resource to turn to when they have concerns.

"We are always looking for ways to continue growing the media of students," Williams said. "We always encourage students to come to us and work with us. We do our best to be accessible to the student body."

The event then moved into the panel portion where students were encouraged to ask questions about their rights as students, especially within the confines of Loyola policies. All of the panelists were able to answer the questions.

The conversations focused heavily on the changes to policies within the Community Standards Handbook that went into effect this year. The changes introduced restrictions on how students can protest. The panelists expressed how they plan to work on the West Quad and within the halls of H to H.

Williams provided legal advice on how to protect protesting as students could better understand what rights they have, and to what extent they're applicable to certain situations — specifically the recent JAI case and its implications to freedom of speech and assembly.

Local co-op hosts Harvest Fest

By MAD REYNOLDS

Their huge and waxy are as warm as the apple cider in their hands. But that's not all. It's also catching up the coffee or family members at a reunion — they're shoppers and workers at Wild Onion Market, greeting each other on the streets of the city's first annual Harvest Festival.

The festival, held on a sunny but brisk Saturday, Oct. 26, highlighted the Wild Onion Market's role as a producer and encouraged customers to strengthen their place in the Rogers Park community. Free samples from local vendors adorned each corner of the street as staff placed a tent outside the entrance for children to color miniature pumpkins.

Wild Onion, a grocery store located at 2807 N. Clark St., is run as a co-op or cooperative group of community members. After 30 years of organizing and planning, the co-op finally opened from 11, according to founder, owner and board member Mary Meyer.

Meyer said the event aimed to attract more interest in the store. "We still need a lot of community support," Meyer said. "We want the Loyola community to join us. The invitation is out for all the community members to join us because that's how co-ops are successful."

Senior Day shutout for women's soccer

By RANIA WOODWARD
rwoodward@luc.edu

Loyola women's soccer team handily defeated St. Bonaventure University 4-0 at Home Park Oct. 27. The team's senior players were looking to support the fourth year and graduates on Senior Day.

Seniors opened the match with a cross from graduate midfielder Olivia Rhoden into St. Bonaventure's box, where it was cleared away by Bonaventure defenders.

Four minutes later, St. Bonaventure second year midfielder Milka Marovic received a long ball from her defense. Marovic ended up in an encounter with Bonaventure first year goalkeeper Alissa Greenwood, but Greenwood blocked the shot.

Nine minutes into the game, second year forward Jody Harris drilled her way down the field and deflected the ball into the goal. The ball was kicked and headed back up the pitch by the Bonnies.

The 15th minute included shots from St. Bonaventure first year midfielder and forward, Samira Chiriac, who shot the ball into the goal. Chiriac's shot again one minute later, but the ball remained on the ground and Chiriac was able to collect it.

Loyola managed to get a shot off in the 15th minute from Rhoden, but the ball went well over the goal and out of bounds.

Fourth year midfielder Samira Chiriac broke the match open in the 18th minute. After receiving a pass into the box from Harris, Chiriac connected with the ball, placing it securely in the right corner of the net for her fourth goal of the season.
