Flying against Fate S. P. MacKenzie, 2017-08-04 During World War II Allied casualty rates in the air were high Of the roughly 125 000 who served as aircrew with Bomber Command 59 423 were killed or missing and presumed killed a fatality rate of 45 5% With odds like that it would be no surprise if there were as few atheists in cockpits as there were in foxholes and indeed many airmen faced their dangerous missions with beliefs and rituals ranging from the traditional to the outlandish Military historian S P MacKenzie considers this phenomenon in Flying against Fate a pioneering study of the important role that superstition played in combat flier morale among the Allies in World War II Mining a wealth of documents as well as a trove of published and unpublished memoirs and diaries MacKenzie examines the myriad forms combat fliers superstitions assumed from jinxes to premonitions Most commonly airmen carried amulets or talismans lucky boots or a stuffed toy a coin whose year numbers added up to thirteen counterintuitively a boomerang Some performed rituals or avoided other acts e g having a photo taken before a flight Whatever seemed to work was worth sticking with and a heightened risk often meant an upsurge in superstitious thought and behavior MacKenzie delves into behavior analysis studies to help explain the psychology behind much of the behavior he documents not slighting the large cohort of crew members and commanders who demurred He also looks into the ways in which superstitious behavior was tolerated or even encouraged by those in command who saw it as a means of buttressing morale The first in depth exploration of just how varied and deeply felt superstitious beliefs were to tens of thousands of combat fliers Flying against Fate expands our understanding of a major aspect of the psychology of war in the air and of World War II

Back from Combat: a World War II Bombardier Faces His Military Future Charles N. Stevens, 2011-09-01 His combat tour over a survivor of thirty four bombing missions as an 8th Air Force bombardier Charles Norm Stevens wonders what he will do next He would have his 30 day furlough but that will pass quickly What then Having endured the hell of his bombing missions he has no desire to sign up for another tour Even though the Allies are gaining on all fronts the war still rages and he is still on active duty in the Army Air Corps He is a trained bombardier who will continue his military service But in what capacity Turning down the option of being an instructor he volunteers for training as a radar bombardier But where would this lead him He sees himself slowly being drawn into the Pacific War as a radar bombardier on a B 29 Superfortress It is a gamble Would the war end or would he find himself again in hostile skies Stevens previously wrote about his cadet and crew training in The Innocent Cadet Becoming a World War II Bombardier and his combat experiences in An Innocent at Polebrook Memoir of an 8th Air Force Bombardier This volume completes his military experience
