Maryland African American Male Task Force Report:

Report of the Task Force on the Education of Maryland's African-American Males Maryland. State Department of Education, 2007 In 1993 the Governor's Commission on Black Males chaired by then Delegate Elijah E Cummings issued a report that studied the conditions of African American males in Maryland as they related to employment health conditions criminal justice and education The Commission provided a snapshot of the plight of the black males in Maryland In the ensuing years a number of state and local agencies have implemented initiatives to address the issues and recommendations contained within the original report In 1998 the Maryland State Department of Education through its Maryland's Achievement Initiative for Maryland's Minority Students AIMMS produced a report entitled Minority Achievement in Maryland The State of the State A second report with expanded analysis and additional recommendations was published in January 2001 by AIMMS The two reports clearly and without ambiguity provided information indicating that many of the factors identified in the 1993 document persist today While both the 1998 and 2001 reports dealt with education performance for all students the disaggregation of the information once again points to serious and continuing problems concerning the education and development of Maryland's African American boys and young men Therefore on the 10th anniversary of the Report of the Governor's Commission on Black Males Maryland's K-16 Leadership Council established a Blue Ribbon Task Force the Task Force on the Education of Maryland's African American Males to evaluate and report on the State's efforts and progress to address the continuing school performance and educational achievement problems that so seriously imperil the future of many African American males In fulfilling its task the Task Force on the Education of African American Males will review current research and effective interdisciplinary practices from both within the State and across the nation concerning the improvement of the education of African American males so that its recommendations are scientifically based and supported by solid research and effective practices This paper presents the recommendations made by the Task Force Individual sections contain footnotes

Task Force on the Education of Maryland's African-American Males ,2006 On June 9 2003 the Task Force on the Education of Maryland's African American Males was convened by the Maryland K-16 Leadership Council chaired by the University System of Maryland Chancellor William E Kirwan former Maryland Acting Secretary of Higher Education John A Sabatini Jr and Maryland State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S Grasmick to evaluate Maryland's progress in addressing persistent academic achievement problems imperiling African American boys and men This Task Force was co chaired by Vice President Dunbar Brooks Maryland State Board of Education and Treasurer Orlan M Johnson Board of Regents University System of Maryland The task force evaluated the successes and failures of Maryland's public schools with regard to African American males school readiness reading math and science achievement attendance graduation suspension and expulsion rates participation in advanced academic programs and college and career preparation The Task Force did indeed address these topics but because many found it difficult to sever what they consider the inextricable connection between a child's emotional well being and his academic success many topics are substantially influenced by the social context in which they occur All Task Force members without exception felt that school itself is an at risk environment for African American male youth and they wanted this report to justify fixing it whatever the cost This report contains 18 specific recommendations centering in the areas of skilled culturally competent teachers high standards and academic opportunity in school support family and community support prevention and intervention services and college preparation and financial assistance The report names the logical group or groups who should take the lead in implementing the recommendations Contains 200 endnotes This report was produced by the Task Force on the Education of Maryland's African American Males Resources in Education ,1993-10 Maryland Documents Maryland.
