Arena, Cary Willard, 2023 Foundations of College Chemistry 16th edition presents chemistry as a modern vital subject and is designed to make introductory chemistry accessible to all beginning students. It is intended for students who have never taken a chemistry course or those who had a significant interruption in their studies but plan to continue with the general chemistry sequence. The central focus is to make chemistry interesting and understandable and teach students the problem solving skills they will need. This International Adaptation offers new and updated content with improved presentation of all course material. It builds on the strengths of previous editions including clear explanations and step by step problem solving. The material emphasizes real world applications of chemistry as the authors develop the principles that form the foundation for the further study of chemistry. There is new and expanded coverage of polarizing power and polarizability, Fajans rules, collision number and mean free path, abnormal molecular masses and van t Hoff factor and applications of radioactivity.

Organic Chemistry David R. Klein, 2022 Organic Chemistry 4th Edition provides a comprehensive yet accessible treatment of all the essential organic chemistry concepts covered in a two semester course. Presented with a skills based approach that bridges the gap between organic chemistry theory and real world practice, the book places special emphasis on developing their problem solving skills through applied exercises and activities. It incorporates Klein's acclaimed SkillBuilder program which contains a solved problem that demonstrates a skill and several practice problems of varying difficulty levels including conceptual and cumulative problems that challenge students to apply the skill in a slightly different environment. An up to date collection of literature based problems exposes students to the dynamic and evolving nature of organic chemistry and its active role in addressing global challenges. The text is also enriched with numerous hands on activities and real world examples that help students understand both the why and the how behind organic chemistry. Ethical Challenges in Managed Care Karen Grandstrand Gervais, 1999 Through twenty case studies that illustrate a wide range of ethical challenges, this book explores the goals, methods and practices of managed care and offers practical guidance for addressing the ethical and policy issues inherent in such a system. The Challenge of Administering Health Services Lowell Eliezer Bellin, Lewis E. Weeks, 1981 Challenging the New Orientalism Mohammad Shahid Alam, 2006 Over the past few decades a new form of Orientalism has been developing. As exemplified by Elie Kedourie and Bernard Lewis, it points to Islam as the West's arch-enemy. The rise of political Islam and its opposition to Western domination of the Islamic world are seen as evidence of a deep abiding hatred of all things Western. Accordingly, the new Orientalists call for thorough reforms among them: regime changes, wars and the imposition of democracy on Islamic societies. They warn that if the West shrinks from this challenge, the Islamists will surely gain power and destroy the West. The essays in this book, written after 9/11, dispute the new Orientalist presumption of an unchanging Islam opposed to Western values and incapable of adapting to the modern world. The not so hidden objective of the new Orientalism is to promote acceptance of the US and Israel's imperialist push into the Islamic world as both a security imperative and a civilizing mission. Alam argues that the new Orientalists' claim of a categorical split between Islam and the West is based on a biased inaccurate interpretation of history While recognizing the political and economic failings of the Islamic world Alam shows that they are legacies of two centuries of Western imperialism and are shared by all regions at the periphery of the prevailing global capitalism If the Islamic world lags behind China and India it is because of two factors that have given a new edge to Western involvement in West Asia and North Africa oil and Zionism In Alam s view Israel is a powerful destabilizing force in the region whose survival depends upon turning the Western Islamic conflict into a hot war Not surprisingly many of the new Orientalists are strong partisans of Israel
