Listening To Our Elders Working And Writing For Change:

Listening to Our Elders Samantha Blackmon, Cristina Kirklighter, Steve Parks, 2011-11-01 In 2011 the National Council of Teachers of English NCTE turned one hundred years old But our profession is endlessly beginning constantly transforming itself and its purpose as new voices and identities claim their rights in our classrooms and in our country The recognition of such claims however does not occur without a struggle without collective work Listening to our Elders attempts to capture the history of those collective moments where teachers across grade levels and institutions of higher education organized to insure that the voices heritages and traditions of their students and colleagues were recognized within our professional organizations as a vital part of our classrooms and our discipline In doing so Listening to Our Elders demonstrates this recognition was not always easily given Instead whether the issue was race sexuality class or disability committed activist organizations have often had to push against the existing limits of our field and its organizations to insure a broader sense of common responsibility and humanity was recognized Listening to Our Elders features interviews with Malea Powell Native American Caucus Joyce Rain Anderson Native American Caucus Jeffery Paul Chan Asian American James Hill Black Caucus James Dolmage Committee for Disability Issue in College Composition Geneva Smitherman Language Policy Committee Carlota C rdenas de Dwyer Latino a Caucus Victor Villanueva Latino a Caucus Louise Dunlap Progressive Caucus Karen Hollis Progressive Caucus Louie Crew Queer Caucus William Thelin Working Class Culture and Pedagogy SIG Bill Macauley Working Class Culture and Pedagogy SIG Viva Nuestro Caucus Romeo García, Iris Ruiz, 2019-10-13 Viva Nuestro Caucus celebrates the history of the Latinx Caucus of the National Council of Teachers of English and of the College Composition and Communication Conference since its inception in 1968 as the Chicano Teachers of English The Caucus emerged because of a lack of representation and support and today maintains its vision and agenda of advocating for Latino peoples The impetus for Viva Nuestro Caucus began both from a lack of recognition amongst NCTE and CCCC and an acknowledgment that no written history exists of the Caucus Its editors provide a partial history of the agendas activities and achievements of the Caucus from its formation to the present set against the backdrop of changing times It includes interviews with founding and current Caucus members an annotated Caucus archive and a working bibliography of publications by Caucus members Pro(se)letariats Audrey Burns, Alicia Landsberg, 2017-06-20 Pro se letariats documents through memoir poetry and fiction a two year conversation held between working class writers in Syracuse New York and the Federation of Worker Writers and Community Publishers United Kingdom on how class background affected their education and career goals Class Politics Stephen Parks, 2013-03-27 Class Politics The Movement for the Students Right to Their Own Language 2e is a response to histories of Composition Studies that focused on scholarly articles and university programs as the generative source for the field Such histories particularly in the 1980s and 1990s divorced the field from activist politics washing out such work in the name of disciplinary identity Class Politics shows the importance of political mass movements in the formation of Composition Studies particularly Civil Rights and Black Power Class Politics also critiques how the field appropriates these movements The book traces a pathway from social movement to progressive academic groups to their work in professional organizations to the formation of the Students Right to Their Own Language Stephen Parks then shows how the SRTOL was attacked and politically neutralized by conservative forces in the 1980s and 1990s arguing for a return to politics to reanimate its importance and the importance of politics in the field Stephen Parks restores politics to the history of Composition Studies Richard Ohmann

The Weight of My Armor Ivy Kleinbart, Peter McShane, 2017-04-13 The essays and poems in The Weight of My Armor represent the work of twenty three members of the Syracuse Veterans Writing Group which meets monthly on the Syracuse University campus Since 2010 the group has served as an intergenerational community where veterans and military family members write about their lives in and beyond the military The Weight of My Armor offers creative nonfiction and poetry that spans a range of military experiences including overseas deployments and combat military acculturation and training adventure and camaraderie shock and loss and endurance and survival This collection also addresses aspects of the military experience that receive less public attention such as gender oppression and military sexual trauma the long term physical and psychological costs of warfare the complex challenges of familial and social reintegration and the experience of growing up in a military family In honest and courageous voices these writers bear witness to events and circumstances that were largely beyond their control They also reflect on their service representing it with the accuracy and specificity unique to first person narratives Taken together these pieces encourage dialogue about the personal social and economic costs of our nation's wars both past and present

Keywords in Writing Studies Paul Heilker, John Vandenberg, 2015-02-15 Keywords in Writing Studies is an exploration of the principal ideas and ideals of an emerging academic field as they are constituted by its specialized vocabulary A sequel to the 1996 work Keywords in Composition Studies this new volume traces the evolution of the field's lexicon taking into account the wide variety of theoretical educational professional and institutional developments that have redefined it over the past two decades Contributors address the development transformation and interconnections among thirty six of the most critical terms that make up writing studies Looking beyond basic definitions or explanations they explore the multiple layers of meaning within the terms that writing scholars currently use exchange and question Each term featured is a part of the general disciplinary parlance and each is a highly contested focal point of significant debates about matters of power identity and values Each essay begins with the assumption that its central term is important precisely because its meaning is open and multiplex Keywords in Writing Studies reveals how the key concepts in the field are used and even challenged rather than advocating particular usages and the particular vision of the field that they imply The volume will be of great interest to both graduate students and established scholars
