Life Orientation 2013 Exam Paper Grade 1:

Individual and Occupational Determinants Joanna Bugajska, Teresa Makowiec-Dąbrowska, Tomasz Kostka, 2020-09-23

There are individual and professional factors that have the greatest impact on the preservation of work ability for people of advanced age and people with chronic health issues and disabilities. This text examines the demographic trends in the population and shows that proper functioning in their lives is only possible if people are provided with appropriate psychosocial and physical working conditions. This publication discusses physiological changes that occur with age and influence work performance. It presents the concept of applying the International Classification of Functioning Disability and Health ICF in order to assess the work ability of people with disabilities. It shows using examples and case studies that practical activities aimed at appropriate working conditions for people of advanced age and people with health issues and disabilities will have excellent work ability. Features Presents a comprehensive approach to workplace tolerance for people with health issues. Offers an innovated in depth evaluation of the Work Ability Index WAI. Presents applying the International Classification of Functioning Disability and Health ICF to assess the work ability of people with disabilities. Outlines actions that should be taken to maintain work ability for people of advanced age or with disabilities. Provides real case studies and analysis. Demographic changes especially those related to aging belong to the main changes occurring in the contemporary working environment. Thus preserving work ability in the older population as well as populations with health concerns are among the most important challenges of today. Accordingly the monograph fits into the most recent issues of this public health area focusing on work ability in populations at risk of social exclusion also occupational exclusion. These are older people persons with chronic diseases and those with different types of disabilities. In my opinion highlighting the problem of work ability in the context of aging by the authors in such a broad understanding is extremely valuable and useful and the presented research outcome is an authentic and very much expected contribution to the discussion on this issue. The topic has been thoroughly presented which undoubtedly results from the interdisciplinarity of the group of authors including specialists in work physiology physicians and physiotherapists. The monograph provides a very measurable and reliable knowledge in this field. Combining the theory with the presentation of the authors research outcomes is an unquestionable advantage of the monograph. Participatory Visual Methodologies Claudia Mitchell, Naydene De Lange, Relebohile Moletsane, 2017-09-18 This book demonstrates how data from participatory visual methods can take people and communities beyond ideological engagement initiating new conversations and changing perspectives policy debates and policy development. These methods include for example photo voice participatory video drawing mapping and digital storytelling. Organised around a series of tools that have been used across health education environmental and sociological research. Participatory Visual Methodologies illustrates how to maintain participant engagement in decision making navigate critical issues around ethics track policies and maximize the potential of longitudinal studies Tools discussed include Pedagogical screenings Digital dialogue devices Upcycling and speaking back interventions Participant led policy briefs An authoritative and accessible guide to how participatory visual methods and arts based methods can influence social change this book will help any postgraduate researcher looking to contribute to policy dialogue Consumer Behavior in the Internet Era Gong Sun,Lester Johnson,Jie Li,2022-11-28

Knowledge, Power and Young Sexualities Tamara Shefer,Jeff Hearn,2022-07-27 This book troubles the ways young people have been constructed as trouble through critical readings of the effects and impacts politically and ideologically globally and locally of scholarship and practice directed at South African young people s sexualities over the last three decades of addressing HIV GBV and other sexual and gender justice challenges Located primarily in South Africa the book speaks to global concerns about the politics of knowledge and transnational flows of information and practice with respect to gender and sexuality and is framed by global imperatives and analyses located in transnational postcolonial and intersectional feminist frameworks The key argument developed here and explored in relation to several different forms of research and practice is that efforts to challenge HIV GBV and unequal sexual and gender practices among young people particularly as evident in heterosexual relationships have tended to reflect and reproduce re new ed orthodoxies about sexuality gender family and young people while bolstering global and local racist classist othering of certain communities and nation states and reiterating the innocence and authority of those already privileged and centred The book contributes to critical reflexive work on global practices of knowledge and its complex enmeshment with power in the terrain of sexual and gender justice work aimed at young people Older People: Improving Health and Social Care Bea L. Dijkman,Irma Mikkonen,Petrie F. Roodbol,2018-11-11 This contributed volume is based on the European Core Competences Framework for health and social care professionals working with older people ECCF developed and verified in a unique international cooperation between 26 universities and universities of applied sciences in 25 European countries part of the European Later Life Active Network ELLAN In addition to the framework the book outlines the necessary qualifications and describes the roles of professionals working with older people in health and social services It explores healthy ageing for older people from different perspectives and describes the seven roles of health and social care professionals Expert Communicator Collaborator Organizer Health and Welfare Advocate Scholar and Professional before going on to define 18 related competences and elaborating them in performance indicators Beyond the ECCF the book explains the widely used CanMED role model and puts forward theories to support a client centered and integrated approach on health and social care in order to change attitudes toward older clients and offer better care and support It also provides health and social care professionals for example nurses allied health professionals and social workers with new contextual information and cultural awareness It gives a voice to students by addressing selected perspectives for professional development The book includes questions for reflective learning helping to make the book a vital practical instrument for use in the educational context throughout Europe Europe's ageing populations represent a major challenge for both public health and social care systems 18% of the population is 65 years old and over and this proportion will increase in the coming years As a result more and more health and social care professionals will work with older people in different settings at home in the community in hospitals or in long term care settings Older people and especially the frail face a host of interrelated issues e.g cognitive restrictions functional restrictions psychosocial problems multimorbidity polypharmacy and social isolation These problems call for an integrated approach to health and social care which this book supplies It is intended for health and social care professionals students and educators for a better understanding of Europe's ageing society and of the impact on care and services Furthermore the ECCF offers educational institutes a unique resource for curriculum development education training and assessment

The International Handbook of Positive Psychology Edward C. Chang, Christina Downey, Hongfei Yang, Ingo Zettler, Mine Muyan-Yılık, 2022-02-02 This handbook discusses the latest findings from different fields of positive psychology from a global perspective by providing a coherent framework to get a better understanding of the development and practice of positive psychology It starts with the parameters of positive psychology and a summary of the historical rise of positive psychology both first wave and second wave of positive psychology in the US and its slow but steady growth on a global scale This handbook highlights the major contributions of positive psychologists across 17 major regions of the world on theory research assessment and Practice It discusses how positive psychology can progress human living in different countries and it shows the reasons why positive psychology has become an important source in research and education around the world

Sexuality Education that Prioritizes Sexual Well-Being: Initiatives and Impact Jacqueline Hendriks, Allison Carter, Jessie Ford, 2025-12-01 All children and young people should receive comprehensive sexuality education from a variety of sources that empowers them to develop a positive self identity and provides them with the tools necessary to form healthy relationships and to manage their own sexuality and sexual health The positive impact such education has for the health and well being of individuals communities and societies has been extensively documented in academic literature Despite the strong evidence base the actual provision of sexuality education can vary markedly across settings and countries and may often focus on biology the prevention of violence diseases or pregnancy and the use of fear based or sex negative messaging Contemporary international guidelines and extensive empirical research strongly encourage strengths based models that are sex positive and empower young people to develop healthy relationships and to learn about pleasure and sexual well being Such programs are often grounded in human rights and ethical frameworks In reality specific examples of such programs and guidance about implementation are not easily accessible Research and evaluation data may also be limited or not widely shared The intention of this Research Topic is to showcase a variety of evidence based initiatives that prioritize and celebrate sexual well being through education The impact of such programs shall also be explored alongside broader discussions about implementation sustainability replication and scaling We are keen to spotlight initiatives that address a specific sexuality education topic alongside more extensive programs A variety of age groups preK 16 and educational settings e g home school community online are welcome Critically a key attribute of any showcased initiative is that it seeks to provide education via sex positive approaches that address sexual well being sex positivity and or pleasure This Research Topic welcomes research that includes but is not limited to the following scientifically rigorous evaluations of educational interventions empirical examinations of best practice in educational design meta analyses of educational practice innovation or pedagogies barriers and enablers to program implementation sustainability replication and or scale up cross cultural and or cross national studies study protocols Potential topics of interest include but are not limited to Inclusion of young people in educational design How pleasure discourse is contextualized within sexuality education curricula Human rights Implementation challenges Ethical issues Adolescents views on sex and pleasure education The role of digital technology We especially welcome submissions from young people people from key populations and community based organizations We request that submissions adhere to the principles of respectful and stigma free language
