

Ions

How are ions made from neutral atoms?

Why?

You have learned that not all atoms of an element are the same. Variation in the number of neutrons results in different isotopes of the element. In this activity we will explore another variation that can take place—the loss and gain of electrons. The exchange of electrons between atoms is a very common way for chemical change to take place. We will see it many times throughout the year.

1. Use Model 1 to complete the following table.

|           | Metal or Nonmetal | Is the number of protons the same in the atom and the ion? | Is the number of neutrons the same in the atom and the ion? | Is the number of electrons the same in the atom and the ion? | Charge on the ion |
|-----------|-------------------|--|---|--|-------------------|
| Lithium   | metal             | yes  | yes   | no   | 1+                |
| Magnesium | metal             | yes  | yes   | no   | 2+                |
| Aluminum  | metal             | yes  | yes   | no   | 3+                |
| Fluorine  | nonmet            | yes  | yes   | no   | 1-                |
| Oxygen    | nonmetal          | yes  | yes   | no   | 2-                |
| Nitrogen  | nonmet            | yes  | yes   | no   | 3-                |

2. Based on the table you completed in Question 1, what distinguishes a neutral atom from an ion?

$e^-$

3. Examine the isotope symbols in Model 1.

a. Where is the ion charge located in the isotope symbol?

upper right  ${}^3\text{Li}^{1+}$

b. Is a charge indicated on the neutral atoms? If yes, where is it located?

NO

${}^3\text{Li}$

4. Which subatomic particle carries a positive charge?

proton +

5. Which subatomic particle carries a negative charge?

electron -

6. Propose a mathematical equation to calculate the charge on an ion from the number of protons and electrons in an ion. Confirm that your equation works using two positive ion examples and two negative ion examples from Model 1.

$$\boxed{\#p - \#e = \text{charge}}$$

$\text{Li} \quad 3 - 2 = +1$

$\text{Mg} \quad 12 - 10 = +2$

$\text{F} \quad 9 - 10 = -1$

$\text{N} \quad 7 - 10 = -3$

Time-of-flight Mass Spectrometry and Its Applications Edward William Schlag, 1994 The resurgence of time of flight mass spectrometry TOF MS has had its origin in the simplicity of construction and application of such instruments together with the high transmission and the great increase in resolution that has been achieved The instrument lends itself naturally to a coupling with pulsed laser sources though this is not a prerequisite It also affords a time resolution far beyond that traditionally achieved with mass spectrometric rapid scan techniques a recent example being the real time analysis of a multi component mixture from an automobile exhaust Furthermore the mass range appears to be extremely large mass up to 500 kDa and beyond what is being readily measured in the laboratory today The present set of contributions attempts to give a survey of current applications from many of the active groups in the field A variety of new applications are considered which are no doubt just the beginning of large new areas of application By presenting this work in book form it is hoped that it will be of help to the
