Multi-Carrier Spread-Spectrum Khaled Fazel, S. Kaiser, 2013-11-11 The benefits and success of multi carrier MC modulation on one side and the flexibility offered by the spread spectrum SS technique on the other side have motivated many researchers to investigate the combination of both techniques since 1993 This combination known as multi carrier spread spectrum MC SS benefits from the advantages of both systems and offers high flexibility high spectral efficiency simple detection strategies narrow band interference rejection capability etc The basic principle of this combination is straightforward The spreading is performed as direct sequence spread spectrum DS SS but instead of transmitting the chips over a single carrier several sub carriers are employed The MC modulation and demodulation can easily be realized in the digital domain by performing IFFT and FFT operations The separation of the users signals can be performed in the code domain MC SS systems can perform the spreading in frequency direction which allows for simple signal detection strategies Since 1993 MC SS has been deeply studied and new alternative solutions have been proposed Meanwhile deep system analysis and comparison with DS CDMA have been performed that show the superiority of MC CDMA

Stahl,1986-04-22 One of the most widely accepted theories of motivation is a trichotomy of needs theory popularized by David C McClelland of Harvard University Many organizational behavior textbooks today discuss McClelland s need for achievement need for affiliation and need for power The three needs have been found to possess predictive power in a wide variety of settings particularly organizational ones Impressed by the ability of the three needs to explain behavior but aware of the measurement problems associated with the Thematic Apperception Test which is used to assess these needs the author searched for an alternative measurement approach This book reports on those design efforts validation of the instrument and use of the instrument in organizational settings gender inequalities in education has led to the development of a number of initiatives on the part of multilateral and bilateral aid agencies aimed at encouraging the participation of women and girls in education Despite this concern efforts to reduce gender inequalities on the part of both governments and donor agencies have been uneven and policy interventions have evolved in a piecemeal fashion In order to explore the reasons for the limited progress that has been made in improving girls education in most developing countries this study focuses on policy formulation and implementation with respect to girls education in the three low income African countries Contains approximately 180 references BT International Handbook of Education Systems John Cameron,1983 Quality and Value in Private School Education in Malawi ,2001 Capacity Building in Educational Research in Southern Africa Charles M.
