Le folklore de France Paul Sébillot, 1904      Le couronnement de Renard Alfred Foulet, 1929      The Temptation of Saint Redon Stephen F. Eisenman, 1992-12-15 Bristling with demons grotesques and bizarre apparitions the graphic work of Odilon Redon has often seemed to be the product of a mind unhinged In The Temptation of Saint Redon Stephen F Eisenman argues instead that these works are Redon's conscious and considered response to changing social realities an attempt to find refuge from the forces of modernization in an imaginative world of the macabre and the fantastic Eisenman's careful attention to the circumstances of Redon's life 1840-1916 allows him to bring into focus the interconnections between Redon's complex style and the culture and society of his time Born and raised on a sixteenth century estate near Bordeaux Redon was immersed as a child in traditional rural culture I spent my entire childhood in the M doc completely free among peasant children he recalled in his memoirs I heard them tell supernatural tales witches still exist there Indeed local tales and legends of witches ghosts one eyed monsters evil eyes and wood fairies figure prominently in Redon's graphic works which he called his noirs or blacks After formal training at Bordeaux and Paris in the 1850s and 1860s Redon began to chart his independent artistic course Eisenman shows how rejecting both naturalism and classicism Redon a prototypical Symbolist found in grotesque and epic genres the expression of organic communities and precapitalist societies He places Redon's desire for this imagined world of superstitious simplicity a desire manifest in his entire mature artistic practice in the context of contemporary avant garde movements Redon's great noirs of the 1870s and 1880s dreamlike configurations of seemingly irreconcilable elements from portraits still lifes and landscapes show an increasingly subtle control of connotation and a complex indebtedness to caricature allegory and puns Many of the noirs also visually interpret works by like minded authors including Baudelaire Flaubert Poe and Mallarmé one of Redon's close friends Eisenman's analysis of the noirs underscores Redon's interest in creating an imaginative even fantastic art that could act directly on the human spirit In addition to deepening our understanding of Redon and his art The Temptation of Saint Redon exposes a link between place politics personal history and the artistic imagination      The Savage Mind Claude Lévi-Strauss, 1966 Discusses the significance of totemism among primitive peoples and its interpretation by anthropologists and philosophies

Rewriting History and the Myth of the French Nation Anna Katharina Rudolph, 2025-11-18 This multidisciplinary analysis of the cult of Radegund of Poitiers from the sixth century to the twenty first illuminates the roles saints play at the intersection of gender and politics No other medieval saint was so politically charged or had such an astonishing range of constructed personae The many Radegunds encountered in this study virgin wife mother royalist republican colonizer can all be interpreted as responses to contemporary political events shifting spiritual trends and changing attitudes towards women's role in society or the Church The long trajectory of Radegund's meanings and functions over the centuries suggests that saints have played a more significant ideological role in state formation nationalism and identity politics than is typically recognized To rewrite Radegund is thus to rewrite the history of the French nation and this ground breaking study shows how powerful medieval hagiography has been and continues to be in the emergence of nationalism and the Myth of the French Nation Bibliographical Contributions from the Lloyd Library, Cincinnati, Ohio Lloyd Library (Cincinnati, Ohio), Lloyd Library and Museum, 1914
