

For God and country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred percent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the anarchy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth, to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to conserve and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

WE ASKED Department Commander Joe Long of California if the January floods had affected Los Angeles National Convention preparations. He replied: "While the loss has been great, early reports were much exaggerated and by the time of the Convention there will be little to indicate that we had a flood. The areas most affected are not closely adjacent to the Convention area, and the unpleasant experience has had no deterring effect on plans for the Convention. When you come out here next September you will never know by what you see that Southern California experienced the havoc of a few weeks ago. We are awaiting you with open arms and every preparation for your comfort and pleasure."

COMMANDER LONG has this to say about the Legion's response when the crisis came: "Legionnaires of California had an opportunity to prove again the value of their disaster relief set-up. In the affected areas Legionnaires mobilized under their Post Commanders and made available to the regularly constituted authorities groups of disciplined men who aided in rescue work and in the maintenance of law and order. The response everywhere was gratifying and the service rendered was splendid. In disasters it is a fine thing to be able to offer manpower under discipline when it is most needed. The Department is conducting a survey of the rehabilitation needs, and the American Red Cross is already proceeding with its program. California is deeply grateful to the many Departments that offered money. The funds are being held pending determination of the actual need."

THE Legion outside of California was quick to respond. Listen to Department Adjutant Jim Fisk: "While California Legionnaires, sleepless, foodless, rain-soaked, patrolled broken highways, searched the wreckage for human life, brought order out of chaos, the story of the havoc spread, and with the broadcast there came an answering call—a call which carried courage in its sound, assurance and understanding in its warmth. The first telegram arrived on Friday morning, March 4th, from National Adjutant Frank E. Samuel and offered the aid of National Headquarters in meeting the sudden emergency. Ohio was next, its Adjutant, J. J. Saslavsky, advising us that a check for $1000 was on its way by air. Tom Hayden, Kentucky's long-time Adjutant, sent his Department's check for $1000. Warren County Post at Bowling Green, Kentucky, sent its check for $200, while John E. Ruddick, our National Treasurer and Indiana's Department Finance Officer, sent air-haste that Department's check for $250. New York, through Department Adjutant Maurice Stember, sent $1000. Guy May, Adjutant of Tennessee, telegraphed, anxiously inquiring how Tennessee could be of help, while Pennsylvania, through its Adjutant, Ed Linsky, assured us that we had but to ask and help would be forthcoming. Ed Seay, the Commander's aide, and Dan Doherty, the Commander of us all, each anxiously wired his offer of assistance. Such response in the hour of need made one glad that there is a Legion and that one belongs. It made one's heart swell with emotion; it caught tight the throat. How priceless that Legion membership; how grand the Legion!"
