I went for a walk in the woods behind my house.
My dad went with me.
The trees were taller than me.
The trees were taller than him.
I saw bugs, dirt, and a stream.

Story

Tech Filippo Trevisan, Michael Vaughan, Ariadne Vromen, 2025-02-26 Personal stories have the power to stir the heart compel us to act and spark social change While advocacy organizations have long used storytelling in campaigns the role technology plays has increased Today invitations to share your story are widespread on advocacy organizations and political campaign websites calls to action and social media pages But what happens after one clicks share And how does this affect which voices we hear and which we don't in public discourse Story Tech explores the increasingly influential impact of technologies such as databases algorithms and digital story banks that are usually invisible to the public It shows that hidden story tech enables political organizations to treat stories as data that can be queried for storylines and used to intervene in news and information cycles in real time In particular the authors review successful story centered campaigns that helped change dominant narratives on disability rights marriage equality and essential workers rights in the United States and Australia They compare the use of storytelling advocacy across different types of organizations including volunteer grassroots groups large national advocacy coalitions and trade unions and examine how trends differ for storytellers organizers and their technology partners As political stories shift to being on demand they reshape power relationships in key public debates in ways that produce moments of tension as well as positive narrative change Story Tech examines these trends and illustrates how storytelling success can and should be achieved in conjunction with personal dignity privacy and empowerment for storytellers and their communities particularly marginalized ones Pattern Making, Pattern Breaking Ann

Alder, 2016-05-13 Rapid changes in technology the nature of organisations non traditional career progression globalisation and virtual worlds mean that we need to become ever more effective learners in order to keep pace with the demands placed upon us Our patterns of understanding the ways in which we make sense of our work and our world hardly become fixed before we are asked to change them and form new ones The ability to build patterns is fundamental to our ability to learn Ann Alder's Pattern Making Pattern Breaking explores the ways in which educators and facilitators can work to help students build those patterns that will be most useful to them These may be technical patterns of language number sequence or process They may be thinking patterns that support problem solving creativity logical analysis or empathy They may be patterns of behaviour that demonstrate trust influence or integrity in relationships Ann also illustrates how you can teach students to break patterns to help them move on in the learning process by recognising and rejecting long held patterns of behaviour or assumptions that are unhelpful or redundant Formal education and training do not necessarily produce learners who are well resourced to take advantage of opportunities that arise and to avoid some of the stresses that uncertainty ambiguity or imposed change place upon them So perhaps one of the most important patterns that we can explore and understand as we move forward in a changing world is our own pattern of learning Whether you are a parent teacher tutor trainer coach or manager you need to be an effective facilitator of learning and this book is the perfect starting place
