Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebese, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeous and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching evidence based practice and further research Empty Hands, A Memoir Sister Abegail Ntleko, 2015-09-01 Empty Hands is the inspiring memoir of Zulu nurse and healthcare activist Sister Abegail Ntleko Growing up poor in a rural village with a father who didn't believe in educating girls against seemingly insurmountable odds Sister Abegail earned her nursing degree and began work as a community nurse and educator dedicating her life to those in need Her story tells us says Desmond Tutu who wrote the foreword to the book what a single person can accomplish when heart and mind work together in the service of others Overcoming poverty and racism within the apartheid South African system she adopted her first child at a time when it was unheard of to do so And then she did it again and again In forty years she has taken in and cared for hundreds of children who had nothing saving babies many of them orphans whose parents died of AIDS from hospitals that were ready to give up on them and let them die Empty Hands describes the harshness of Ntleko's circumstances with wit and wisdom in direct beautifully understated prose and will appeal not only to activists and aid workers but to anyone who believes in the power of the human spirit to rise above suffering and find peace joy and purpose Ntleko's story which she tells in simple language is inspiring and moving She neither dwells in nor dramatizes the hardships she has faced preferring instead to focus on filling her hands with love and then spending all that love until her hands are empty again A brief genuine heartfelt memoir of an awe inspiring life Kirkus Reviews Who's who of Southern Africa, 2003 Vols for 1967-70 include as a section Who's who of Rhodesia Mauritius Central and East Africa Understanding Relational and Group Experiences through the Mmogo-Method® Vera Roos, 2016-07-13 This volume describes the development and application of the Mmogo method as a projective visual data gathering method applied in different contexts and with different groups of people Mmogo means togetherness in Setswana one of the 11 official languages of South Africa The Mmogo method provides a deep understanding of personal relational and group experiences and is particularly useful in cross cultural contexts and across age groups By allowing visual expressions of the self as a complex dynamic social system it overcomes some of the limitations of traditional data collection methods such as questionnaires or interviews The book draws together contributions by leading social scientists to show how this flexible visual data collection method can be used independently or jointly with other data gathering techniques such as journalling or in depth interviewing to acquire rich information The research method described here enables investigators to access perceptions feelings and personal experiences participants might otherwise find hard to verbalize and explain Researchers in disciplines such as education social sciences consumer sciences market research and city and town planning will find this book and its innovative method particularly valuable in addressing a gap in available visual and other data collection resources
