

GOVERNOR OPERATION

As the engine speed increases the throttle arm, 1, contacts the fuel screw adjuster at contact point "A", and the high-speed idle stop screw at "B". During the engine speed increase, tension is placed on the governor spring, 2.

As the engine speed increases the four governor weights, 1, pivot outward and push the slider cone, 2. The weights and the slider cone are located on the end of the camshaft.

The slider cone, 2, Figure 2-254, contacts the governor linkage arm, 1, at contact pad "C". As the cone moves forward it pushes the linkage arm, 1, forward, which is connected to the injection pump rack assembly. When the injection pump rack moves forward the fuel delivery is decreased and the engine speed decreases.
