The Home Owner's Guide to HVAC Rob Turner P.E., 2021-08-04 How green is green The average homeowner is usually well informed about which products and concepts are considered green but they seem to have less of an understanding of how they compare and which things work the best for the lowest investment Did you know that 40 percent of the average home power bill is dedicated to air conditioning in warm climates Further energy is spent on cooking hot water clothes dryers and such Did you know that solar hydronic panels are way more efficient than solar voltaic panels How about instantaneous water heaters Are they good Homeowners need to make dozens of decisions about which products or services they need in order to make their home the most efficient it can be for the given budget Do you have mold or humidity problems If you want to learn about things like the home envelope HVAC hot water and electrical systems this book is for you It is written in plain English and covers all the bases Also given are tips on saving the environment from an engineer's perspective The author is a big fan of the environment but does not like greenwashing The generic definition of greenwashing is the practice of making an unsubstantiated or misleading claim about the environmental benefits of a product service or technology Pros and cons of various green products are discussed so that the homeowner can understand the smartest purchases and practices One of the things you will learn is that the envelope of the home is just as important as the HVAC You have to understand both to be successful The envelope is thoroughly discussed as well as HVAC plumbing electrical and the various green technologies

Energy Efficiency in Buildings José Manuel

Andújar,Sergio Gómez Melgar,2020-04-28 Buildings are one of the main causes of the emission of greenhouse gases in the world Europe alone is responsible for more than 30% of emissions or about 900 million tons of CO2 per year Heating and air conditioning are the main cause of greenhouse gas emissions in buildings Most buildings currently in use were built with poor energy efficiency criteria or depending on the country and the date of construction none at all Therefore regardless of whether construction regulations are becoming stricter the real challenge nowadays is the energy rehabilitation of existing buildings It is currently a priority to reduce or ideally eliminate the waste of energy in buildings and at the same time supply the necessary energy through renewable sources The first can be achieved by improving the architectural design construction methods and materials used as well as the efficiency of the facilities and systems the second can be achieved through the integration of renewable energy wind solar geothermal etc in buildings In any case regardless of whether the energy used is renewable or not the efficiency must always be taken into account The most profitable and clean energy is that which is not consumed Heating, Air Conditioning, Sheet Metal Contractor ,1955 Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,1989
