Culture and Human-Robot Interaction in Militarized Spaces Julie Carpenter, 2016-02-26

Explosive Ordnance Disposal EOD personnel are some of the most highly trained people in the military with a job description that spans defusing unexploded ordnance to protecting VIPs and state dignitaries. EOD are also one of the first military groups to work with robots every day. These robots have become an increasingly important tool in EOD work enabling people to work at safer distances in many dangerous situations. Based on exploratory research investigating interactions between EOD personnel and the robots they use, this study richly describes the nuances of these reciprocal influences, especially those related to operator emotion associated with the robots. In particular, this book examines the activities, processes, and contexts that influence or constrain everyday EOD human robot interactions, what human factors are shaping the robotic technology, and how people and culture are being changed by using it. The findings from this research have implications for future personnel training and the refinement of robot design considerations for many fields that rely on critical small group communication and decision making skills.

War and the Art of Governance Nadia Schadlow, 2017. Success in war ultimately depends upon the consolidation of political order. Consolidating the new political order is not separate from war; rather, Nadia Schadlow argues that governance operations are an essential component of victory. Despite learning this the hard way in past conflicts from the Mexican War through Iraq and Afghanistan, US policymakers and the military have failed to institutionalize lessons about post conflict governance and political order for future conflicts. War and the Art of Governance distills lessons from fifteen historical cases of US Army military intervention and governance operations from the Mexican War through the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Improving outcomes in the future will require US policymakers and military leaders to accept that the political dimension is indispensable across the full spectrum of war. Plans, timelines, and resources must be shaped to reflect this reality before intervening in a conflict, not after things start to go wrong. The American historical experience suggests that the country's military will be sent abroad again to topple a regime and install a new government. Schadlow provides clear lessons that must be heeded before next time.

Women in Science Now Lisa M. P. Munoz, 2023-10-31. Silver Medal in the Social Change and Social Justice Category 2024 Nautilus Book Awards Winner 2024 Choice Outstanding Academic Title. Women working in the sciences face obstacles at virtually every step along their career paths. From subtle slights to blatant biases, deep systemic problems block women from advancing or push them out of science and technology entirely. Women in Science Now examines solutions to this persistent gender gap, offering new perspectives on how to make science more equitable and inclusive for all. This book shares stories and insights of women from a range of backgrounds working in various disciplines, illustrating the journeys that brought them to the sciences, the challenges they faced along the way, and the important contributions they have made to their fields. Lisa M. P. Munoz combines these narratives with a wealth of data to illuminate the size and scope of the challenges women scientists face while highlighting research-based solutions to help overcome these obstacles. She presents groundbreaking studies in social psychology and organizational behavior that are informing novel approaches for combating historic and ongoing inequities.

Through a combined focus on personal experiences and social science research this timely book provides both a path toward greater gender equity and an inspiring vision of science and scientists      Rivista delle società commerciali ,2010
