

1. The first step is to identify the model and the year of the motorcycle. This information is usually found on the frame or the engine. 2. Next, you should check the owner's manual for the specific model. This manual will provide you with the correct specifications and maintenance procedures. 3. If you do not have the owner's manual, you can contact the manufacturer or a local motorcycle shop for assistance. 4. It is also important to check the serial number of the motorcycle. This number can be used to identify the model and the year of the bike. 5. Finally, you should check the VIN (Vehicle Identification Number) of the motorcycle. This number is unique to each motorcycle and can be used to identify the model and the year of the bike.
