

LIVING WORLD – FOOD PRODUCTION

HSIE / SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY UNIT OF WORK

NSW syllabus – Stage Three

Learning

In the coming decades, feeding a growing population will become more difficult.

Overpopulation, global warming, the spread of diseases and pests, and changes in global climate may make growing food more difficult.

What a good idea!

PRODUCE FARMING

Vertical Farming

Vertical farming is a type of farming that grows crops in vertical layers. It is a sustainable way of growing food that uses less water and land than traditional farming. Vertical farms can be located in urban areas, which makes it easier for people to access fresh produce.

Hydroponics

Hydroponics is a method of growing plants without soil. The plants are grown in a nutrient solution. This method uses less water than traditional farming and can be done indoors, which makes it a good option for areas with limited space or water.

Aquaponics

Aquaponics is a system that combines hydroponics with aquaculture. It involves growing plants in a nutrient solution and raising fish in the same water. The fish waste provides nutrients for the plants, and the plants help to filter the water for the fish. This is a sustainable way of producing both food and fish.
