Liz Lochhead Five Plays:

Five Plays Liz Lochhead, 2012 Five plays from the the makar national poet of Scotland one of the country's best known and best loved living playwrights Liz Lochhead is the author of many highly inventive original plays adaptations and translations all crafted with her special blend of the vividly colloquial and the energetically poetic This volume brings together five of her best original plays ranging over three decades and several contrasting styles Her first play Blood and Ice 1982 is about the creation of Frankenstein and weaves a spider's web of connections between the literary monster and Mary Shelley's own turbulent life The modern classic Mary Queen of Scots Got Her Head Chopped Off 1987 retells the familiar tale of enmity between Elizabeth I and Mary Queen of Scots with Lochhead's own brand of ferocious iconoclasm and boundless wit Quelques Fleurs 1991 is a portrait of a marriage both funny and tragic and told through interlaced monologues The last two plays Perfect Days 1998 and Good Things 2004 mark a woman's fear of turning respectively forty and fifty In the first Barbs 39 a celebrity hairdresser determines to do something to drown out the ticking of her biological clock In the second Susan 49 sets out to find love the second or is it third or fourth time round This rich collection of plays carries a new and candid introduction by the author specially written for the volume Funny feisty female full of feeling Liz Lochhead possesses the deeply Scottish qualities of independence inquisitiveness and inventiveness Carol Ann Duffy Good Things Liz Lochhead, 2006 British Working Class women authors (born before 1962) a list Stefan Szczelkun, 2025-06-07 A collection of Wikipedia articles edited reformatting and with additions In chronological order References and sections on non literary activity are sometimes omitted hopefully not to the point of misrepresenting the author which might include feminist or political activism To my surprise the biographical material on Wikipedia was sometimes mesmerising although it was uneven Where there were gaps I have tried to fill them from other sources Refer back to the wikipedia articles for more context and references in some cases and if you have a verified source of information please update the Wikipedia article Wikipedia is published under a creative commons licence So this compilation also carries a creative commons licence Introduction Looking through Sarah Richardson's Writing on the Line 1996 I was struck by how many of the working class women writers were from North America and how many more were poets Howard Slater had made a list of British working class male novelists and I selected British woman writers from Writing on the Line and found that most of them now have Wikipedia pages I first made a list of links Wanting to take this further I first looked to focus on novels and short story writers but this category started to break up as many writers wrote in many idioms producing fact fiction poetry plays screenwriting and journalism I decided on an arbitrary cut off point of writers born before 1962 When I first made the list I was thinking how few working class women novelists had been published in this period But then the lists of books by each author started to stack up and there's plenty to read and much that I missed even really hearing about Of course it focuses on the most successful others who produced a community published autobiography or self published novel did not get a Wikipedia page and they should really be included every life counts Others only published an autobiography perhaps in the last years of life but were extraordinary writers and people We could also discuss the genre snobbery in literary circles that puts crime young peoples literature romantic and fantasy fiction and perhaps historical based narratives in a lower category than the novel
