Teaching and Learning Geography Daniella Tilbury, 2002-11-01 This book provides a clear overview of current thinking on the teaching and learning of geography It is an ideal companion to all students beginning a career in teaching the subject in secondary schools The chapters are written by experienced teacher educators and bridge both theory and practice The writers focus on the continuities whilst setting them in the context of the changing curriculum The book is divided into four parts Part One examines the historical context of geography teaching Part Two looks at issues of course planning design syllabuses and programmes of study Underlying this section is the assumption that geography should not be considered in isolation from other subjects but rather as part of a whole curriculum Part Three concentrates on teaching and learning and includes chapters on the use of maps field work IT and first hand experience within a community The final section covers the issues associated with assessment across the whole school age range

The administration of examinations for 15-19 year olds in England Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education Committee, 2012-07-03 Additional written evidence is contained in Volume 3 available on the Committee website at www.parliament.uk/educom

2012 GCSE English results Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Education Committee, 2013-06-11 The 2012 GCSE English results prompted significant controversy which ultimately resulted in an application for judicial review This report sets out the background to these events and identifies lessons to be learned The problems with GCSE English can be traced back to the 2007/09 development phase of the qualification in particular the turbulence which resulted from the shift away from a mostly linear to a modular system combined with a high proportion of controlled assessment and generous marking tolerances Exam board experts raised concerns at the time but these were not acted upon by the regulator the then interim Ofqual Further difficulties arose because of pressures from the school accountability system The problems experienced with GCSE English in 2012 highlighted serious weaknesses in the moderation of speaking and listening with consequences for grade awarding The current status of Ofqual as an independent regulator accountable to Parliament is the right one However the Coalition Government is bringing in wholesale changes to GCSEs and A levels to a tight timetable and at the same time Ofqual must have systems in place The Committee is also concerned that there is a rush towards separate exam systems for England Wales and Northern Ireland without careful reflection on what might be lost or consensus that this is the right thing to do
