Lorine Niedecker: Solitary Plover Phyllis Walsh, 1992      A History of American Poetry Richard Gray, 2015-03-02 A History of American Poetry presents a comprehensive exploration of the development of American poetic traditions from their pre-Columbian origins to the present day Offers a detailed and accessible account of the entire range of American poetry Situates the story of American poetry within crucial social and historical contexts and places individual poets and poems in the relevant intertextual contexts Explores and interprets American poetry in terms of the international positioning and multicultural character of the United States Provides readers with a means to understand the individual works and personalities that helped to shape one of the most significant bodies of literature of the past few centuries      Circling the Canon, Volume II Marjorie Perloff, 2019-11-15 One of our most important contemporary critics Marjorie Perloff has been a widely published and influential reviewer especially of poetry and poetics for over fifty years Circling the Canon Volume II focuses on the second half of her prolific career showcasing reviews from 1995 through her 2017 reconsiderations of Jonathan Culler's theory of the lyric and William Empson's classic Seven Types of Ambiguity. In this volume Perloff provides insight into the twenty-first century literary landscape from revaluations of its leading poets and translations of European poetry from Goethe to the Brazilian Noigandres group and interart studies and performance art. Key issues of the past few decades such as the controversy over the role and function of poetry anthologies receive extended treatment and Perloff frequently voices a minority view as in the case of the acclaimed British poet Philip Larkin. Lost Classics Michael Ondaatje, Michael Redhill, Esta Spalding, Linda Spalding, 2011-03-30 An Anchor Books Original. Seventy-four distinguished writers tell personal tales of books loved and lost, great books overlooked, under-read, out of print, stolen, scorned, extinct, or otherwise out of commission. Compiled by the editors of Brick, a literary magazine, Lost Classics is a reader's delight, an intriguing and entertaining collection of eulogies for lost books. As the editors have written in a joint introduction to the book, being lovers of books, we've pulled a scent of these absences behind us, our whole reading lives, telling people about books that exist only on our own shelves or even just in our own memory. Anyone who has ever been changed by a book will find kindred spirits in the pages of Lost Classics. Each of the editors has contributed a lost book essay to this collection, including Michael Ondaatje on Sri Lankan filmmaker Tissa Abeysekera's Bringing Tony Home, a novella about a mutual era of childhood. Also included are Margaret Atwood on sex and death in the scandalous Doctor Glas, first published in Sweden in 1905; Russell Banks on the off-beat travelogue Too Late to Turn Back by Barbara Greene, the slightly ditzy cousin of Graham; Bill Richardson on a children's book for adults by Russell Hoban; Ronald Wright on William Golding's Pincher Martin; Caryl Phillips on Michael Mac Liammoir's account of his experiences on the set of Orson Welles's Othello; and much, much more.

"Between Your House and Mine" Lorine Niedecker, Cid Corman, 1986. Lorine Niedecker (1903-70) was a poet of the objectivist school who loved a quiet, almost reclusive life on Black Hawk Island near Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin. Cid Corman, editor of the influential and pioneering literary journal Origin, learned of Niedecker from poet Louis Zukofsky. This annotated edition of the letters from Niedecker to her editor and fellow poet Corman charts the development of a warm and important literary friendship. These letters furnish some of the only biographical information available on the reticent Niedecker, reveal the literary process in progress, and demonstrate how much being a poet in America is a matter of choice, hard work, and a clearheaded commitment to the realities of time and place. The early letters were written before Niedecker's marriage and at a time when the poet had more trees for friends than people. In these letters from Black Hawk Island, Niedecker sought a community of fellow poets. The following period, the Milwaukee years, form the bulk of the collection and saw the establishment of Niedecker's identity as a poet. From the city of point-top towers, she wrote Corman frequently about poetry, other poets, current events, and daily life. After her return in 1969 to Black Hawk Island, relieved of earlier anxieties over publication, she was confidently at work on her sequences, her most serious poetic undertaking. The Columbia Granger's

The Objectivists Andrew McAllister, 1996 The Objectivists were a group of left wing mainly Jewish American poets who formed a brief though important alliance in the 1930s when they felt poetry needed a new identity The guiding principles of Objectivist poetry were fresh vocabulary and musical shaping drawing on a stripped down but radiant language of images and perceptions The core of the group was formed by Louis Zukofsky George Oppen Charles Reznikoff and Carl Rakosi but Lorine Niedecker Kenneth Rexroth and Muriel Rukeyser were affiliated players as well as Basil Bunting in Britain They are especially interesting to us today because they took up the challenge of experiment with a modern ambitious lyric poetry sharpened by their experience of the new metropolitan city In the Objectivists heyday the Depression years they laid down examples which have been picked up in turn by the Black Mountain Poets and the Beat Generation and later by Postmodernism and which still remain fruitful The trademark smartness and brevity of Objectivist poetry along with a vital commitment to the spirit of the century make Andrew McAllister's anthology an exciting and relevant book for a new generation of poetry readers

The Leaves in Her Shoes J. L. Jacobs, 1999 The Leaves in Her Shoes blends aspects of the everyday and the spiritual infusing simple domestic rituals with latent wonder With a deft hand Jacobs mixes the voice above the voice of the spiritual and divine and the voice below that of earth and life Lost Roads Publishers I don't think I've ever read a first book of poems so haunted as The Leaves in Her Shoes Reading these poems is like listening to snatches of song or overhearing half sentences mutterings broken chants of a lost tribe Jacobs assembles these shards into a startling and unforgettable collage
