Fig. 4.
When raffia gets too short, pull it thru the core and cut it off, leaving about an inch projecting. Fig. 4.

Start new binder as shown in Fig. 5, letting an inch of it extend. Lay both ends along the core and wrap around them to fasten them.

Fig. 5.

7

Hot pads can be made by coiling flat to the desired dimension, from 5 to 8 inches in diameter. They may be ornamented as shown in second illustration top of page. This is done with colored raffia. The white raffia is given a couple of turns over the space that the color is to cover. The colored raffia is then wrapped around and the same is done with the end as before.

Neither of the binders need be cut for this pattern. For some patterns the ends are secured as in Fig. 4 & 5.

Note: Always keep the raffia winding close together so that it completely covers the grass core.

9

When making a basket, the bottom is made like a hot pad, but instead of a tapered ending, the coil is worked upward to form the sides. Fig. 7. The shaping of the basket is a matter of individual taste and is governed by the eye of the worker.

[Bottoms of deep baskets need not be decorated.]

Fig. 7.

Colored raffia may be used to ornament baskets. For some designs the colored raffia will have to be cut, but if possible run it along the core and cover with the white and vice versa. Fig. 7. Finish top edge of basket as shown in Fig. 6.

10

Ring handles can be made by winding a couple of stalks of grass in a circle and wrapping it with raffia. Fig. 8. Sew handles to basket with raffia.

Fig. 8.

To make a cover fit snugly, it should have a flange to fit the inside of the basket. Make ring as shown in Fig. 8, and sew it to the underside of the cover with raffia.

Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works),2013 Contemporary California Indian Basketry Bev Ortiz,2008 Baskets have been woven for at least 10 000 years in the area now known as the western United States Originally created by California Indians as utilitarian objects for everyday family use by the late 1800s baskets had become a commodity that provided much needed income Collector interest in baskets resulted in an expanding literature that focused on their collectability promoted their making with largely store bought imported materials and compared their techniques of fabrication While most basketry literature whether scholarly or popular has largely concerned itself with the object form design materials technique and function since 1970 the literature on basketry has begun to shift its focus to the process and the weavers themselves The present study begins by surveying the worldwide literature about basketry with an emphasis on California Indian basketry It recounts the history of the practice of basketry in California which began to decline in the 1930s because of lack of need and interest the economics of the Depression and a desire to not stand out as Indian Attention then shifts to organizational efforts by California Indians since 1940 to reverse this trend By establishing basketry organizations California Indian women sought to gain respect for their cultures within the dominant society while at the same time rebuilding pride among the young Based on 30 years of field research with hundreds of California Indian basketmakers statewide the present study examines the effectiveness of organizational efforts to renew basketry as well as impediments to its continued practice including 1 lack of time to learn and weave and 2 lack of access to properly managed basketry materials growing in safe areas free from chemical contamination After detailing these issues and the solutions that California Indians have devised to resolve them the study illustrates the diverse reasons why California Indians continue to make baskets and the varied ways they learn through the stories of individual weavers including biographies of four elder basketmakers whose influence was widespread The humanity tenacity and resourcefulness of the weavers are highlighted as they continue to find new ways to bring an old practice into the future Industrial-arts Magazine ,1927 Winds of Change ,2005 Industrial Arts and Vocational Education ,1916 Manual Training Magazine Charles Alpheus Bennett,William Thomas Bawden,1920 The Bay View Magazine ,1907 Lesson Plans Using Audio-visual Materials in Teaching on Three Grade Levels: Primary, Intermediate, Junior-senior High School Western Illinois University,1958 Teaching Critically About Lewis and Clark Alison Schmitke,Leilani Sabzalian,Jeff Edmundson,2020 The Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery is often presented as an exciting adventure story of discovery friendship and patriotism
