Natural Sciences Grade 8 Paper Term 4 In 2014:

Hysterectomy Ibrahim Alkatout, Liselotte Mettler, 2017-09-14 This book initiates the descriptions of the practical performance of different hysterectomies with conventional and robotically assisted laparoscopy laparotomy and vaginal surgery Laparoscopic hysterectomy has been out as an additional technique for hysterectomies for the last couple of decades As the necessary light augmentation and advanced skill has only been introduced into this already 200 year old surgical procedure within the last few decades by laparoscopy the editors aim to look at the laparoscopic procedures followed by the traditional techniques of hysterectomy with laparotomy and vaginal surgery Handbook of Venous and Lymphatic Disorders

Peter Gloviczki, American Venous Forum, 2017-03-03 The Handbook of Venous Disorders first published in 1996 is a handbook for all clinicians and surgeons who are involved with the investigation evaluation or management of venous and lymphatic diseases or malformations These disorders include varicose veins venous ulcers DVT lymphedema and pulmonary embolism as well as damage to the veins through trauma or tumor growth The new edition has been completely updated to bring the book in line with current teaching practices The Interconnection Between the Tumor Microenvironment and Immunotherapy in Brain Tumors Quan Cheng, Wen Cheng, Junxia Zhang, Longbo Zhang, 2023-06-08

Autoimmuno-Anti-Tumour Immunity (AATI) - Understanding the Immune Responses against "Self" & "Altered-self" Fang-Ping Huang, 2017-05-16 The brief description of tumours being wounds that do not heal by Dr Harold F Dworak nearly three decades ago N Engl J Med 1986 has provided not only a vivid illustration of neoplastic diseases in general but also in retrospect conceptually a plausible immunological definition of cancers Based on our current understanding in the field it could have even a multi dimensional meaning attached with This relates to several important issues which need to be addressed further i e in terms of a close link between chronic inflammation and tumourigenesis widely observed clinical and experimental evidence of immunity against tumours versus the highly immunosuppressive tumour microenvironment being associated and their underlying immunological mechanisms oncogenic basis as well as the true causal relationship in question Recent findings from studies into the pathogenesis of autoimmunity and more importantly the mechanisms which protect against it have offered some new insights for our understanding in this direction Chronic or persistent autoimmune like inflammatory conditions are evidently associated with tumor development The important question is about their true causal relationship Chronic or persistent inflammation has been shown to contribute directly to tumour development by triggering neoplastic transformation and production of inflammatory mediators which could promote cancer cell survival proliferation and invasion On the other hand tumours are mutated self tissue cells to which the host immune system is largely tolerized otherwise Although the mutations may give rise to the expression of tumour specific antigens TSA or tumour associated antigens TAA most of these TSAs TAAs are found to be poor immunogens The ongoing inflammatory conditions may therefore reflect a desperate attempt of the host immune system to mount anti tumour responses though ineffectively being a consequence of the continuous yet largely futile triggering by those poorly immunogenic TSAs TAAs Furthermore during autoimmune or overtly persistent immunological responses many regulatory mechanisms are triggered in the host in attempts to limit the ongoing harmful inflammatory reactions Such a negative feedback regulation is known to be crucial in preventing normal individuals from immune mediated diseases As a result of the negative feedback loop however an excessive production of anti inflammatory or immunosuppressive molecules followed by the exhaustion of the immune effector cells may instead lower the ability of the host immune system to mount specific anti tumor responses allowing the escape of tumour or mutated cells from immunosurveillance This may also help to explain why the most effective way to enhance host immunity against cancer is by targeting the negative arm of immune regulation In this Frontiers Research Topic we aim to gather current views from experts in these inherent overlapping fields of oncology autoimmunity and tumour immunology and to make them available to our potential readership who may be particularly interested in this cutting edge area By understanding how the immune system is normally regulated why dysregulation of which may cause the immunological oncological related diseases we also encourage further discussions as to how the so called self reactivity autoimmune responses can be alternatively switched on and redirected immunologically or molecularly for effective cancer treatment

Novel Diagnostic and Therapeutic Strategies in the Management of Cerebral Gliomas Valeria Barresi, Maria Caffo, Giuseppe Lombardi, Letteria Minutoli, Emeline Tabouret, Herui Wang, 2024-10-29 Cerebral gliomas account for 45% of all primary central nervous system CNS tumors The median survival after the initial diagnosis of glioblastoma GBM is only 15 months and less than 10% of patients survive three years post diagnosis Surgical treatment followed by adjuvant therapies such as radiotherapy and chemotherapy represents the classical strategy in glioma management The revised WHO 2016 classification now distinguishes the oligodendrogliomas with 1p19q codeletion and IDH mutation from the astrocytomas with or without IDH mutations thereby creating homogenous and pathologically distinct subgroups While the status of gene expression and mutations define components of GBM subtypes it was also found that response to therapies was different for each subtype suggesting that personalized treatment based on genomic alterations could lead to a more favorable outcome for this disease
