Nature Humaine Et Nature Divine:

Neither Nature nor Grace T. Adam Van Wart, 2020-10-21 Neither Nature nor Grace operates at the intersection of systematic and philosophical theology exploring in particular how St Thomas Aquinas variously uses the latter in service to the clarification and faithful advancement of the former More specifically Neither Nature nor Grace explores the overlooked logical difficulties that have followed the late modern debates in ecumenical Christian theology as to whether knowledge of God is available solely through God's gracious self-revelation e.g. Jesus Christ and Holy Scripture or through revelation and the deliverances of natural reason Van Wart takes the prominent French Dominican Reginald Garrigou Lagrange as paradigmatic for the case that knowledge of God can be had by both revelation and natural reason Representing the opposing position that God can only be known through divine revelation Van Wart highlights the work of influential Protestant theologian Karl Barth By placing these two imposing 20th century theologians in conversation and by providing a careful theological philosophical analysis of the logical mechanics of each thinker's respective arguments Van Wart shows how both inadvertently overreach their self-professed epistemological bounds and just so run into significant problems maintaining the coherence of their relative theological positions That is against their expressed intentions to the contrary both thinkers unwittingly evacuate the divine essence of the mystery Christian tradition has always previously claimed it to have effectively reducing the being of God to mere creaturely being writ large As a contrasting corrective to this problem Van Wart proffers a constructive grammatical reading of Aquinas's measured account of the crucial but often overlooked logical differences between what can be said of the divine on the one hand versus what can be known of God on the other While many recent works have attempted to solve the ongoing arguments which Garrigou Lagrange and Barth epitomize regarding the epistemic use of God's effects Van Wart's contribution constructively pushes the conversation to a different level in showing how Aquinas's grammar of God provides a salutary means of dissolving and moving beyond these contentious debates altogether

The World Reformed Fellowship Statement of Faith A. T. B. McGowan, 2024-04-10 At the inaugural General Assembly of the World Reformed Fellowship WRF in 2000 I proposed that the WRF could serve the church by writing a new confession of faith for the twenty first century The first reason was that the members of the WRF were drawn from many nations and from many denominations and were using a whole range of confessional statements At the same time there was general agreement that we were all Reformed in theology The second reason was the need for a confessional statement to address the issues the church is facing today The third reason was that all of our confessions were written in Western Europe whereas the leadership in the global church has now moved to the southern hemisphere Scholars from Africa Asia Australasia and South America joined with theologians from Europe and North America to engage in the task The Statement was presented to the WRF General Assembly in April 2010 An invitation was then issued to all members of the WRF to suggest any changes or additions to the text The Statement presented here was approved by the WRF Board of Directors in 2011 It is not intended to replace other confessional statements but may be of use to individuals and churches as they reflect on the nature of Reformed Theology and its application to the theological and moral issues which confront the church in the twenty first century
