Self-directed learning research and its impact on educational practice Elsa Mentz, Roxanne Bailey, 2021-05-17

This scholarly book is the third volume in an NWU book series on self directed learning and is devoted to self directed learning research and its impact on educational practice The importance of self directed learning for learners in the 21st century to equip themselves with the necessary skills to take responsibility for their own learning for life cannot be over emphasised The target audience does not only consist of scholars in the field of self directed learning in Higher Education and the Schooling sector but includes all scholars in the field of teaching and learning in all education and training sectors The book contributes to the discourse on creating dispositions towards self directed learning among all learners and adds to the latest body of scholarship in terms of self directed learning Although from different perspectives all chapters in the book are closely linked together around self directed learning as a central theme following on the work done in Volume 1 of this series Self Directed Learning for the 21st Century Implications for Higher Education to form a rich knowledge bank of work on self directed learning

South African Schooling: The Enigma of Inequality Nic Spaull, Jonathan D. Jansen, 2019-11-05

This volume brings together many of South Africa s leading scholars of education and covers the full range of South African schooling from financing and policy reform to in depth discussions of literacy numeracy teacher development and curriculum change The book moves beyond a historical analysis and provides an inside view of the questions South African scholars are now grappling with Are there different and preferential equilibria we have not yet thought of or explored and if so what are they In practical terms how does one get to a more equitable distribution of teachers resources and learning outcomes While decidedly local these questions resonate throughout the developing world South Africa today is the most unequal country in the world The richest 10% of South Africans lay claim to 65% of national income and 90% of national wealth This is the largest 90 10 gap in the world and one that is reflected in the schooling system Two decades after apartheid it is still the case that the life chances of most South African children are determined not by their ability or the result of hard work and determination but instead by the colour of their skin the province of their birth and the wealth of their parents Looking back on almost three decades of democracy in South Africa it is this stubbornness of inequality and its patterns of persistence that demands explanation justification and analysis This is a landmark book on basic education in South Africa an essential volume for those interested in learning outcomes and their inequality in South Africa The various chapters present conceptually and empirically sophisticated analyses of learning outcomes across divisions of race class and place The book brings together the wealth of decades of research output from top quality researchers to explore what has improved what has not and why Prof Lant Pritchett Harvard University There is much wisdom in this collection from many of the best education analysts in South Africa No surprise that they conclude that without a large and sustained expansion in well trained teachers early childhood education and adequate school resources South Africa will continue to sacrifice its people's future to maintaining the privileges of the few Prof Martin Carnoy Stanford University Altogether one can derive from this very valuable volume if not an exact blueprint for the future then certainly at least a crucial and evidence based itinerary for the next few steps Dr Luis Crouch RTI
