Ming Kevin McLoughlin, 2014 Exhibition book for Ming The Golden Empire showing at the National Museum of Scotland summer 2014 original artifacts from Nanjing Museum including Chinese National Treasures The Golden Age of Piracy in China, 1520-1810 Robert J. Antony, 2022-03-30 The Golden Age of Piracy in China 1520 1810 exposes readers to the little known history of Chinese piracy in the sixteenth to nineteenth centuries through a short narrative and selection of documentary evidence In this three hundred year period Chinese piracy was unsurpassed in size and scope anywhere else in the world The book includes a carefully selected and wide range of Chinese Portuguese Dutch English and Japanese sources some translated for the first time to illustrate the complexity and variety of piratical activities in Asian waters These documents include archival criminal cases and depositions of pirates and victims government reports and proclamations memoirs of coastal residents and pirate captives and written and oral folklore handed down for generations The book also illuminates the important role that pirates played in the political economic social and cultural transformations of early modern China and the world An historical perspective provides an important vantage point to understand piracy as a recurring cyclical phenomenon inseparably connected with the past The Golden Age of China American Women's Club of Shanghai. Literary Department, 1923 Sport in the Golden Age of China, Volume 1 Lingyu Xie, 2013-12-03 The purpose of was to examine the evidence of sport in the so called Golden Age of ancient China and to place that evidence in a cultural context The particular theoretical approach was a structuralist and functionalist one its basic assumption being that sport as a social institution is to be understood in terms of its relationship to other components in the system and thus sport can be seen as reinforcing or supporting other dimensions of the system A theoretical model proposed by Salter and Jones was utilized When evidence of sports and the cultural components of the Salter and Jones model were subject to analysis activities related to cultural identification were in the majority followed by those classified as being of social interaction then political ceremonial economic and domestic As sports are held to be a microcosm of society then the conclusion would have to be that the culture was one that stressed the ideas standards knowledge and techniques of that culture and emphasised the reciprocal relationship of human beings Political and ceremonial type sports also loomed large in the culture demonstrating perhaps the subservience required of a majority of the population and the firm control by those in power to control that population Four hypotheses were advanced and upheld First that sporting activities in the Golden Age of ancient China were influenced by both enculturation and acculturation Second that the preponderance of sport was related to the upper classes Third that the majority of the activities were of the informal variety some of them being purely recreational Fourth the majority of the activities were for males which corresponds with the male dominant traditional culture of China though the point is valid that their involvement exceeds that of any prior period in Chinese history Fifth that certain activities were restricted through climate and geography Sport in the Golden Age did not stand separate from life rather it influenced and was in turn influenced by the various cultural components Sport was clearly a social phenomenon which extended into politics even into foreign policy the military and religion and formed close relationships with these various components It would appear that sport was a reasonable mirror or microcosm of culture in the Golden Age of ancient China Ming China Craig Clunas, Jessica Harrison-Hall, Yu Ping Luk, 2016 his illustrated publication is the outcome of the conference Ming Courts and Contacts 1400 1450 held October 9 October 11 2014 and that accompanied the British Museum's major exhibition Ming 50 years that changed China September 2014 January 2015 The scope of the exhibition and conference focused on Ming dynasty China in the years 1400 to 1450 *The Official Manual of the Cripple Creek District, Colorado, U.
