Excerpt from Meditations on the Lord's Prayer. With this view I had at first thought some what to change their form but have not found the opportunity to do so and the addresses are now written out from notes made at the time much as they were delivered local and temporary references being omitted and the hortatory form for the most part dropped. In their present form it is thought that they may perhaps be useful for reading in Churches where Lay Readers are employed as well as for private meditation and study.
