Teaching Computational Thinking and Coding in Primary Schools David Morris, Gurmit Uppal, David Wells, 2017-05-22
This is a guide to the teaching of computing and coding in primary schools and an exploration of how children develop their computational thinking. It covers all areas of the National Curriculum for primary computing and offers insight into effective teaching. The text considers three strands of computer science: digital literacy and information technology. The teaching of coding is especially challenging for primary teachers, so it highlights learning on this, giving practical examples of how this can be taught. For all areas of the computing curriculum, the text also provides guidance on planning age appropriate activities with step by step guides and details of educationally appropriate software and hardware. This book helps you to connect what you need to teach with how it can be taught and opens up opportunities in the new curriculum for creative and imaginative teaching. It also includes the full National Curriculum Programme of Study for Computing key stages 1 and 2 as a useful reference for trainee teachers. Activities Based on The Iron Man by Ted Hughes Jillian Powell, 2016

Addressing Special Educational Needs and Disability in the Curriculum: Art Kim Earle, Gill Curry, 2017-09-06
The SEND Code of Practice 2015 reinforced the requirement that all teachers must meet the needs of all learners. This topical book provides practical, tried and tested strategies and resources that will support teachers in making art lessons accessible and interesting for all pupils, including those with special needs. The authors draw on a wealth of experience to share their understanding of special educational needs and disabilities and show how the art teacher can reduce or remove any barriers to learning. Offering strategies that are specific to the context of art teaching, this book will enable teachers to develop students' understanding, appreciation and enjoyment of art and design, advance students' sense of enquiry about visual and tactile experiences, help pupils to realise their creative intentions through the development of technical competence and manipulative skills, provide opportunities for personal and imaginative enquiry, sample a variety of art and design projects to use in their own lessons, plan the classroom layout and display to enhance learning, successfully train and fully use the support of their teaching assistants. An invaluable tool for continuing professional development, this text will be essential for secondary art teachers and their teaching assistants seeking guidance specific to teaching art to all pupils, regardless of their individual needs. The book will also be of interest to secondary SENCOs, senior management teams and ITT providers. Full of practical ideas and inspiration and supported by free online resources, this is an essential tool for art teachers and teaching assistants and will help to deliver successful inclusive lessons for all pupils. Primary Science Kit Rosemary Sherrington, 2002. This kit has been devised to help teachers of primary science in schools of all sizes. The two year age band structure, the compact size of the resources, correlation to the QCA Scheme of Work and recommended teaching times all contribute to making teaching science more effective in the school. The Teacher Resource Books contain a comprehensive series of clearly structured lesson plans that enable you to teach the QCA Scheme of Work with six units in each year.
