Alamargot, Virginia Berninger

Narrative Essay Grade 4:

Translation of Thought to Written Text While Composing Michel Fayol, M. Denis Alamargot, Virginia

Berninger, 2012-05-04 Translation of cognitive representations into written language is one of the most important processes in writing. This volume provides a long-awaited updated overview of the field. The contributors discuss each of the commonly used research methods for studying translation, theorize about the nature of the cognitive and language representations and cognitive linguistic transformation mechanisms involved in translation during writing, and make the case that translation is a higher-order executive function that is fundamental to the writing process. The book also reviews the application of research to practice that is the translation of the research findings in education and the work world for individuals who interact with others using written language to communicate ideas. This volume provides a rich resource for student theorists and empirical researchers in cognitive psychology, linguistics, and education, and teachers and clinicians who can use the research in their work.

Fun-Size Academic Writing for Serious Learning Gretchen Bernabei, Judi Reimer, 2013-07-31 Sometimes a student's best teacher is another student. If ever there were a book to respond to the pressure to increase students' test scores, this is it. You see, Gretchen Bernabei and Judi Reimer have had amazing success using mentor texts by students to teach writing well in any genre. Now they hand over their file drawers and pair 101 student essays with one-page lessons on topics such as how to choose a structure across genres, extract thesis statement and main points, support points with details, use rhetorical devices and grammatical constructions, write from the point of view of a fictional character.

Machine Learning, Natural Language Processing, and Psychometrics Hong Jiao, Robert W. Lissitz, 2024-04-01 With the exponential increase of digital assessment, different types of data, in addition to item responses, become available in the measurement process. One of the salient features in digital assessment is that process data can be easily collected. This non-conventional structured or unstructured data source may bring new perspectives to better understand the assessment products or accuracy and the process how an item product was attained. The analysis of the conventional and non-conventional assessment data calls for more methodology other than the latent trait modeling. Natural language processing (NLP) methods and machine learning algorithms have been successfully applied in automated scoring. It has been explored in providing diagnostic feedback to test takers in writing assessment. Recently, machine learning algorithms have been explored for cheating detection and cognitive diagnosis. When the measurement field promotes the use of assessment data to provide feedback to improve teaching and learning, it is the right time to explore new methodology and explore the value added from other data sources This book presents the use cases of machine learning and NLP in improving the assessment theory and practices in high stakes summative assessment learning and instruction More specifically experts from the field addressed the topics related to automated item generations automated scoring automated feedback in writing explainability of automated scoring equating cheating and alarming response detection adaptive testing and applications in science assessment This book demonstrates the utility of machine learning and NLP in assessment design and psychometric analysis
