

A low-angle photograph of a modern skyscraper with a glass curtain wall. The building's facade is composed of large glass panels held by a dark metal grid. The name "Morgan Stanley" is prominently displayed in large, silver, three-dimensional letters across the middle of the glass. The glass reflects the surrounding urban environment, including other buildings and a clear blue sky with some clouds. To the right of the glass section, the building's structure features thick, dark brown concrete or stone pillars and horizontal beams, creating a geometric pattern. The overall scene is brightly lit, suggesting daytime.
