Mutare General Hospital:

One day this will all be over Ross Parsons, 2012-05-13 Ross Parsons has been working with HIV positive children in Mutare since 2005. As a child psychotherapist, he was interested in exploring how a therapeutic group meeting regularly might offer a way of elaborating and meeting their needs. His account of these experiences is presented as a rare blend of anthropological and psychotherapeutic approaches to the study of children, and he is candid about the close even intimate relationships that resulted. I have crossed the classical ethnographic and psychoanalytic boundary of the cool observer. The therapist while still awkwardly present has also become an advocate in pursuit of the ethnographic. The period of his research coincided with one of deep crisis in Zimbabwe's economy; employment opportunities were few, public health and education services were in decay, and the prospects were grim for those on the margins of society. In the course of my fieldwork, I have attended too many funerals. In the absence of state support, the poor look variously to international NGOs and to the church. Parsons offers telling insights into the crossroads of donated pharmaceuticals and Christian faith, and is constantly alert to the place of traditional spirituality and ties of kinship. Dare to Love Completely Janine Roberts, 2009-07 Follow a young woman off the plane down winding dusty paths and through the doors of an orphanage where children are waiting to teach you the most important lessons in life. Travel past the orphanage to the surrounding villages and stoop inside darkened huts to greet men, women, and children whose stories of amazing faith give you strength and courage to go forth and fight the everyday battles. See the AIDS epidemic spread from household to household yet watch as each one rises from the ashes and keeps going. Return in the evening to the quiet cement house enveloped in darkness; the only light, a small glow from your candle. Look around the room at your new friends, a people willing to trust God and find joy in the midst of these devastating circumstances. You will come to realize that no matter what a person faces, the pain of grief and hardship is greatly diminished in the presence of lavish love. Come experience true love. Janine Roberts grew up in Vienna, West Virginia. She graduated from West Virginia Wesleyan College in 1999 and Asbury Theological Seminary in 2004. Janine traveled to Zimbabwe in 1998 and 2002 before moving to Fairfield Children's Homes from 2004 to 2007. During her time there, she worked with Zimbabwean volunteers to expand a program called HOPE. This program provides nutrition, education, and medical support to orphans so that they can continue living with relatives in their communities. She plans to return to live in Zimbabwe in 2009. Both Danai and Fadzai are first-born children, and expectations were understandably very high. The central message here is that parents need to impart all they believe their offspring need to get, and this needs to be during the formative years. Young adults are subjected to societal influences that may not be in line with what the parents have in mind. Life lessons must be given, but respect of the young mind is critical to maintain balance. Most parents find that they are busy with the day-to-day life demands to the extent that their offspring are left to find their ways Outside influences end up shaping the young minds In this true story the challenge came when the two young adults fell in love and decided to marry Their love was stronger than all efforts to separate them

African nurses and everyday work in twentieth-century Zimbabwe Clement Masakure,2020-12-15 Informed by the memories of African nurses this book highlights the experiences of men and women who provided nursing services in Zimbabwe's hospitals in the twentieth century. It argues that in their subordinate positions and within their various capacities nursing assistants, nursing orderlies, medics and qualified nurses, African women and men played a pivotal role in the provision of healthcare services to their fellow Africans. They transformed hospital spaces into their own, reshaped and reformulated indigenous as well as western nursing and biomedical practices. Through their work, African nurses contributed to the development of the nation by being at the bedside, healing the sick and nursing the infirm. Zimbabwe Health for All Action Plan, 1988 Official Telephone Directory, 1995 Should I Forgive? Nyasha 'Many Faces' Gapa, 2013-02-14

The courageous few Zimbabweans who dared to stand up to President Robert Mugabe and his Zanu PF party in the election campaigns of 2008 were persecuted, assaulted and in many cases brutally murdered. Should I Forgive is based on the experiences of a young wife and mother, Nyasha Gapa, who was raped and beaten for daring to campaign for Morgan Tsvangirai's opposition party, MDC Movement for Democratic Change. While many of the details of the story have been changed to protect Nyasha's family and friends from further violence, all the events related in this tragic story, from the sadistic beating of Nyasha's husband to their flight to South Africa, their exploitation by a white farmer, the racist persecution the refugees experienced there and the catastrophic fire that actually happened, Should I Forgive is a heartbreaking story of staggering courage, endurance and love.
