

Writing:

My favourite music

My favourite kind of music is rock. I like old bands like Nirvana and Scorpions although these groups mix rock with heavy metal. The song I like the most is Send me an Angel, a ballad composed by Scorpions in 1990. It talks about a lonely man who follows the advices of a wise man. It has a fantastic rhythm and tremendous power. Also I like the lyrics because they talk about love in general and I am very romantic. Apart from this band I also like Spanish music and one of my favourite singers is Juanes. He is Colombian and writes his own lyrics. He has something special and he has a sweet voice. I attended a concert of Juanes last year in Madrid and it was amazing!

Donald Francis Tovey

My Favourite Music Essay:

Music and Aesthetics in the Eighteenth and Early Nineteenth Centuries Peter le Huray, James Day, 1988-04-07

This is an abridged paperback edition of Peter le Huray and James Day's invaluable anthology of writings concerned with the role of music in eighteenth and early nineteenth century aesthetics. This volume retains all the most important and significant items from the original hardcover edition. Over fifty writers are represented here including such major figures as Rousseau, Kant, Schlegel, Schopenhauer and Hegel, and the useful introductions and biographical details of the original are also retained. The aesthetic literature of the period is profuse, but this carefully edited volume offers a balanced selection which illuminates the ways people experienced music and how they came to an understanding in particular of the new music of their day.

Papers and Correspondence of William Stanley Jevons William Stanley Jevons, 1973-01-01 The Poetic Eye:

Occasional Writings 1982-2012 Michael Sharkey, 2016-11-07. This volume contains a selection of the Australian poet Michael Sharkey's uncollected essays and occasional writings on poetics and poets, chiefly Australian and New Zealand. Reviews and conversations with other poets highlight Sharkey's concern with preserving and interrogating cultural memory and his engagement with the practice and championing of poetry. Poets discussed range from Lord Byron to the colonial era and early twentieth century poets Francis Adams, David McKee, Wright and Zora Cross, under-represented Australian women poets of World War I, traditionalists and experimentalists including several New Australian Poetry activists of the 1970s and contemporary Australian and New Zealand poets. Writings on poetics address form and tradition, the teaching and reception of poetry and canon formation. The collection is culled from commissioned and occasional contributions to anthologies of practical poetics, journals devoted to literary and cultural history and book reviewing, as well as newspaper and small magazine features from the 1980s to the present. The writing reflects Sharkey's poetic practice and pedagogy relating to the teaching of literature, rhetorical analysis, cultural studies and writing in universities, schools and cultural organizations in Australia, New Zealand, China and Germany. It also evidences Sharkey's familiarity with literatures written in English and his wider career in publishing, editing, free lance journalism and the promotion of Australian and New Zealand literature, especially poetry.
