October 1966 , Camus Ray Davison,1997 This is the first full length study in English of Camus s life long fascination with the works of the Russian writer Feodor Dostoevsky The purpose of the book is to demonstrate the ways in which Dostoevsky s thought and fiction served to stimulate and crystallize Camus s own thinking Davison lucidly identifies the lines of divergence and counter arguments which Camus produced as answers to the challenge of Dostoevsky s Christian Tzarist vision of life The traditional methods of comparative literary criticism are jettisoned in favour of the more exciting claim that Camus s literary and philosophical texts can be read as precise and detailed replies to some of Dostoevsky s central beliefs about immortality religion and politics The study ranges freely over the entirety of the works of both major writers missionary society These early years in New France marked a special period in her life Firmly committed to the belief that the world would be a better place if people learned to understand one another she worked to build a better church and a better society especially for women and children Marguerite Bourgeoys s life story teaches us about tolerance and
