Andrew Knapp,2007-06-27 France s liberation was expected to trigger a decisive break both with the Vichy r gime and with the pre war Third Republic What happened over three crucial years 1944 47 was an untidy patchwork of unplanned continuities and false starts along with fresh departures that defined France s future for the next half century Prepared by an international team of specialists The Uncertain Foundation analyses a complex process of regime change economic renewal social transformation and adjustment to a fast evolving world      French Crime Fiction Claire Gorrara,2009 This book is one of the first English language studies to chart the development of crime fiction in French from the mid nineteenth century to the present day It analyses the distinctive features of a French language tradition and introduces readers to a rich and varied body of work Each chapter examines a specific period movement or group of writers as well as engaging with wider debates on the place of crime fiction within contemporary French and European culture From early twentieth century pioneers such as Gaston Leroux and Maurice Leblanc to the phenomenal success of Georges Simenon from May 68 to the gender politics of crime fiction and postmodern reinventions this collection approaches crime fiction in an interdisciplinary manner alive to the innovative and often critically informed perspective it provides on French society and culture The book also includes short extracts in English translation and an extensive bibliography of critical material for further reading Such resources are aimed at encouraging the reader to gain a greater appreciation and understanding of this potent and formidable narrative of modern times André Chamson, 1900-1983 Peter D. Tame,2006 Women's Contributions to Visual Culture, 1918-1939 Karen Brown,2008 Applying a feminist and international approach to the interwar years 1918 1939 this collection explores women s art in a variety of mediums including design print illustration murals poster art costume design film sculpture and painting These essays place a central concern on the history and theory of art and gender and have a coherent focus on women s role in the agency and mediation of artistic production between the wars The Literary Review ,2005 France Timothy Baycroft,2008-08-29 Examines the nation building process of continual re creation and re invention of more than two hundred years of the history of France It explores the complex task of creating unity while reconciling regional religious and cultural diversity in a nation Divided into three sections it covers French history experience and identity and seeks to integrate conventional political history with insight into nation building Themes such as social conflict civil war and revolution identity and difference gender colonialism and decolonization religion material and popular culture and the devastation of war are examined in light of the evolution and continual reinvention of France This new study will be of interest not only to students of modern and contemporary France but also to those who want to understand the ways in which national identities are created and evolve within modern society The Economist ,2005

Painting, Politics and the Struggle for the École de Paris, 1944-1964 Natalie Adamson,2009 Painting Politics and the Struggle for the cole de Paris 1944 1964 is the first book dedicated to the postwar or nouvelle cole de Paris It challenges the customary relegation of the cole de Paris to the footnotes not by arguing for some hitherto hidden merit for the art and ideas associated with this school but by establishing how and why the cole de Paris was a highly significant vehicle for artistic and political debate The book presents a sustained historical study of how this school was constituted by the paintings of a diverse group of artists by the combative field of art criticism and by the curatorial policies of galleries and state exhibitions By thoroughly mining the extensive resources of the newspaper and art journal press gallery and government archives artists writings and interviews with surviving artists and art critics the book traces the artists exhibitions and art critical debates that made the cole de Paris a zone of aesthetic and political conflict Through setting the cole de Paris into its artistic social and political context Natalie Adamson demonstrates how it functioned as the defining force in French postwar art in its defence of the tradition of easel painting as well as an international point of reference for the expansion of modernism In doing so she presents a wholly new perspective on the vexed relationships between painting politics and national identity in France during the two decades following World War II
