

QUESTION NO. 10
Question	Which measure is the best for determining the fit of a regression model?
Answer choice 1	$R^2$ (coefficient of determination)
Answer choice 2	Adjusted $R^2$
Answer choice 3	Standard error of the estimate
Answer choice 4	Standard deviation
Correct answer	Adjusted $R^2$
Explanation	Adjusted $R^2$ is the best measure for determining the fit of a regression model because it takes into account the number of independent variables in the model. $R^2$ is a measure of the proportion of the variance in the dependent variable that is predictable from the independent variable(s). However, $R^2$ can be artificially inflated by adding more independent variables to the model, even if they do not contribute to the model's predictive power. Adjusted $R^2$ adjusts for the number of independent variables in the model, providing a more accurate measure of the model's fit.

The 10 year anniversary of the September 11 attacks is being commemorated in many ways across the country.
