

Narrative Childhood Story

When I was a kid, I was living in West Roxbury small town near Boston, Massachusetts. I had many events happen in life, some good and some not so good but in the end it was a learning experience and part of my history. At the age of 7, I was sent to another country to live with my grandmother in South America. I had to leave my family due to medical reasons that my mother was going through. Many things were hard, but taking that experience has made me realize that good things can come out of what was then a bad experience in the beginning.

Trying to adapt to a new school, new friends, new environment, new family in the sense that I didn't have my parents with me, wasn't what I was used to but what did I know about that I was only 7 years old although if my memory serves me well, it was somewhat hard but not impossible to adapt to. Change is not an easy thing to adapt to especially if life has been a routine; it's a cycle of experiences that with every step we go in life.

It was hard to adapt to another language and with that came a lot of stress in a young child's life but through studying and learning I adapted to the language and finally made my way to understanding the Spanish language. In school it was tough to communicate with other kids as pretty much our own sign language had to suffice for a certain amount of time until I was able to speak in Spanish somewhat good. Grades in my report card were all red, which meant they were low but understandably so if Spanish was my second language.

Though there was struggle with that alone, I also had a hard time adapting to my grandmother's ways; I was used to my parents and it was a hard transition to get used to even though I was so young. I missed my parents but thank goodness my family was around and my cousins and some great friends cause they were around my age and I had a lot of fun playing with them for my whole stay there. I wish that I could go back and to relive at least one day from my childhood, when I was always feeling that I was safe, when my friends, family members, and I were living day by day and we were not planning for anything to happen the day after.

We didn't know what's meant by hater and, we didn't realize hearted people who talk bad about us behind our backs and, they just give a smile on their face. Even money were just papers for me but, nowadays people can kill to earn money. Some say it's considered a money hungry society. All people now are racing for money. I would like to take it back and lay on my old bed as I used to sleep, when I just put my head on my pillow I didn't care about anything, I didn't hate anybody.

I really wanted to relive just one day of my childhood, it was fun, real fun. There are a lot of lessons. Through my experience of going to a new country and adapting the way of life, the language and school, I was able to thank my parents and my family for a wonderful experience that has taught me a

Oregon Teachers Monthly ,1921 The Development of Literacy Through Social Interaction Colette Daiute,William Damon,1993 This volume of New Directions for Child Development is about literacy as a social process For many years reading and writing were defined in terms of the structure and correctness of the texts More recently educators have begun to appreciate the cognitive processes involved in comprehending and composing text This volume extends beyond these understandings to explore how reading and writing develop in the course of children s social lives as they interact with parents teachers and peers The contributors examine written language as a mode of social discourse and human development rather than as a distinct cognitive skill This perspective offers insights about how children draw on social and affective resources to support cognitively challenging aspects of written language For example children who explain explore argue and play with language and ideas whether with parents teachers or peers are more likely to grow as writers and readers than children who do not use language in these ways The research reported here suggests that literacy must be integrated into children s lives because social and affective interactions support conceptual aspects of academic skills like reading and writing This shift in perspective involves redefining what it means to become literate and what counts as basic skills This is the 61st issue of New Directions for Child Development For more information on this series see the Journals and Periodicals page

Writing for Life Primary English Teaching Association (Australia),1988 In recent years there has been renewed interest in writing in the primary schools and the process approach has made a big impact on children and their teachers Yet are we making the most of this approach Is there not a risk that process writing will just be identified with story writing and forfeit its potential for writing in all areas of the curriculum Are our children learning to use the different kinds of writing that they will need in the course of their education and their lives The contributors to this book who include several practising teachers argue that children should be taught how to write in the various genres or kinds of writing that are needed Drawing on their own experiences they show how teachers can develop their teaching of writing to realise the full potential of the process approach and at the same time maintain its vitality
